THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

THE END NOW DRAWING NEAR.

The Work of To-Day—The Contest in Richmond—What Remains to be Finished—Blount is Renominated—Some Points and Opinions.

To-day holds the last serious struggle of the state campaign.

Richmond, Fulton, Pulaski, Upson, Carroll, Monroe and various other counties will hold their primaries or mass meetings. After to-day there are a few scattering counties, and then—the deluge.

We present herewith the details of the action of the counties that held their meetings on Wednesday.

The Call of the Counties.

PIERCE 4 FOR COLQUITT, 2 FOR LESTER.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

BLACKSHEAR, July 23.—This county held its primary election to-day. There were 4 Colquitt and 2 Lester delegates appointed—with no instructions. The county has two votes, so that there will be 1⅓ for Colquitt and ⅔ of 1 vote for Lester. This information I got from the chairman who had just left the meeting. JOHN D. GREEN.

LAURENS COUNTY GOES ANTI-COLQUITT.

Special to The Constitution.

DUBLIN, July 21.—In this county Colquitt is the favorite, but just before the elections the Hardeman and Lester tickets were combined, and the fusion ticket had 128 votes to Colquitt 95.

LUMPKIN GOES FOR COLQUITT.

Special to The Constitution.

DAHLONEGA, July 21.—The democracy of this county met to-day and elected a solid Colquitt delegation to the Atlanta convention as follows: W. A. McAfee, R. H. Moore, E. A. Beck and Frank Imboden. This county is also solid for Joe Brown. P.

COLONEL HARDEMAN IN UPSON.

Special to The Constitution.

THOMASTON, July 22.—Hon. Thomas Hardeman delivered here to-day to a large assembly of citizens a very eloquent and patriotic address. He deserves well of the people of Georgia, and he would make a good governor. The Thomaston brass band furnished excellent music for the occasion. Next Saturday each precinct in the county will select five delegates to assemble here the following Monday to elect delegates to the convention which is to meet in Atlanta on the 4th of August. The county seems to be equally divided between Hardeman and Colquitt, and it is doubtful which candidate will receive the votes from Upson.

A HOT FIGHT IN RICHMOND.

AUGUSTA, July 23.—The hottest fight ever known in this county, will close to-morrow over the Colquitt and uninstructed ticket. Both tickets are composed of the strongest of men and twelve leaders are on each. Local issues have been dragged into the contest, but the county will vote for Colquitt. The daily papers have column upon column of communications and editorials on one side or the other, the Chronicle being for Colquitt and the News against. Governor Colquitt's speech was superb, and he had the most enthusiastic reception seen here since the war. An anti-Colquitt meeting is advertised for to-night.

The Chronicle and Sentinel says editorially of the address:

Last night Governor Colquitt addressed the largest political assemblage which has met in this city since the war. Our new market hall, probably the largest apartment in the state, was crowded to repletion. Each of its fifteen hundred chairs contained its occupant, while the stage passage ways, and entrances were densely thronged. It is within the mark to say that something over two thousand persons were present. The governor's address took up in detail the charges which have been alleged against him and answered one after the other in a way that evoked thunders of applause. Warming with the speaker, the vast audience first applauded, then broke out into enthusiastic cheering, and as the governor concluded his address, pressed forward almost en masse to the stage to shake him by the hand and assure him, with the warmest demonstrations of confidence and support. Of the effect of the address no two opinions can be entertained. At the primary election to-morrow, the governor will carry this county by an overwhelming majority. A calm and candid appeal to the popular sense of justice, right dealing and fair play never fails to meet a favorable response, and never was this truth more brilliantly exemplified than by the meeting last night.

The Beer on the "Telegraph."

The Macon Telegraph of a day or two since had a strong editorial urging the congressional delegates of Milledgeville to nominate Blount without further ado, as he had a clear majority, and was struggling for the two-thirds. A Colquitt man asks that paper if Blount was entitled to the nomination because he had a majority why Governor Colquitt has not the same right, as he has a clear majority? The Telegraph publishes the point, and says it is "well taken." We print it herewith:

MILLEDGEVILLE, July 21.—Editors Telegraph and Messenger—Gentlemen: In your issue of this morning, you give some wholesome and sound advice to the delegates composing the sixth congressional district convention. You say, that inasmuch as Blount has secured a decided majority of the delegates, you hope that all opposition will cease, and that his nomination will be unanimous.

Now, if your advice is applicable to the case of Colonel Blount, (whose friend I am), why not give the same advice in the gubernatorial race? Colquitt has a decided majority of the delegates—will have almost a two-thirds vote in sight—ought not all opposition cease as to his candidacy? Why not be consistent and just? You profess to be impartial, yet you fail to come up to the requirements of your own belief, when it antagonizes your candidate. Respectfully,

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

The Congressional Campaigns.

MR. BLOUNT RENOMINATED IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

MILLEDGEVILLE, July 23.—When the convention met this morning McDaniel's name was announced and until dinner the vote stood Blount 17, McDaniel 13, with a slight variation. After dinner the race was between Blount and Glover. Complimentary votes were given Glover until his vote reached 18, the largest vote up to this time. His name was withdrawn by Mr. Edge, of Twiggs. Ten minutes recess was taken. Sellman withdrew McDaniel's name and on the next ballot, the 174th, Blount was nominated, securing every vote. After passing the usual resolution of thanks to the officers, and the appointment of a committee to notify the nominee, and a remodelling of the executive committee of the district, amid the shaking of hands and congratulations, in fact, an old-fashioned democratic love feast the convention adjourned sine die. L. C.

DR. FELTON ON THE TRACK.

Special to The Constitution.

CARTERSVILLE, July 22.—Dr. W. H. Felton delivered an able two hours' speech here at the court house to-day. He announced for the first time publicly to-day that he was a candidate for congress, and that he would run as an independent democrat. The court house was crowded during the whole of the speech, which was devoted mainly to national politics and a review of Dr. Felton's record.

COLONEL WOOTEN IN THE SECOND.

Special to The Constitution.

AMERICUS, July 21.—At the convention here to-day, delegates were elected to the congressional convention, which meets at Dawson on the 28th. They are favorable to Major C. B. Wooten, who will get a strong support from this end of the district.

THE SITUATION IN THE SECOND.

ALBANY, July 21—In the congressional convention, the Hons. W. E. Smith and C. B. Wooten, are the most prominent candidates thus far. Both will enter the convention with a strong following, but neither with probably a majority. The friends of Turner, Hammond, Mitchell, and one or two others, are also confident. It will doubtless be a hard-fought contest all around and the shadow of a probable independent candidate begins to loom up ominously.

The Legislative Races.

THE MEN WHO ARE WILLING TO REPRESENT THE STATE IN THE HOME COUNCILS.

HON. MARK A. COOPER is a candidate for the legislature for Bartow county.

WORTH and Dougherty counties both claim the senatorial succession, and it will be hard to harmonize things. The negro majority in that district ought to tie democrats together.

MR. JOSEPH G. PARKS has received the unanimous vote of Terrell county for state senator, and Mr. S. R. Christie was nominated by a majority of 200 over Mr. E. T. Kenney.

Campaign Notes and Guesses.

OLD Monroe county will vote to-day by primaries, and there is great excitement.

THE vote in Randolph will be 1⅓ for Hardeman and ⅔ of one vote for Lester—so the Macon Telegraph says.

IN the Dodge county meeting a fight occurred, and a pistol was fired in the court-house, scattering several voters but fortunately wounding none.

The Spanish Outrage.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Admiral Wyman reports to the navy department from Port Royal, S. C., that he has investigated the alleged firing upon the American ships by the Spanish corvette Canto in West Indian waters and finds that the ships fired upon were within three miles of the coast limit of jurisdiction claimed by the governments of all maritime nations and that the Spanish authorities had no intention of offering any insult to the American flag or committing any act at variance with the usage of civilized nations. Admiral Wyman expresses the opinion that there is nothing in the case to warrant further inquiry.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

The Assassin of Madame Skobeloff—The Irish Bill.

LONDON, July 23.—An evening paper says that Ouzalis, the murderer of Madame Skobeloff, is 27 years old. He was educated at the school of engineers at St. Petersburg, and was appointed officer of engineers in 1870. In 1876 he went to Montenegro to join the Bosnian insurgents, received the order of Daniloff from the prince of Montenegro in 1877, and entered the 63d regiment of the Russian infantry through Gen. Skobeloff's influence. His commission, which he forfeited by going to Bosnia, was restored, and he distinguished himself at Breslovatz and was appointed General Skobeloff's adjutant and received the orders of Vladimir and St. George and the sword of honor for his gallantry. After the war, General Skobeloff procured him the appointment of captain in the Roumelian militia. He became dissipated, gambled and drank, and it is believed that he and Madame Skobeloff's maid conspired to murder and rob her.

The body of Madame Skobeloff, who was murdered and robbed by sub-Lieutenant Ouzalis, will be brought to St. Petersburg. The Russian Press states that the assassin owed his position throughout his career to General Skobeloff, and that he had gained the order of St. George during the last war.

The Turkish ministry yesterday decided upon a reply to the collective note of the powers. The reply asks the powers to agree in the principle that Janina, Carissa and Metzovo shall remain in the Turkish possession, and proposes that the porte shall reopen negotiations with Greece on this basis. This is substantially a rejection of the decision of the Berlin conference.

Prince De Novikoff, the Russian ambassador, has again demanded the execution of the assassin of the Russian colonel, Commeroff.

A Times Berlin dispatch says that the German foreign minister has instructed that the government's ambassadors abroad to state that negotiations for the dispatch of the German officials to Constantinople to aid the porte in reorganizing its finances, etc., have no political significance whatever.

A Constantinople correspondent of the London Telegraph, repeats on what he declares to be the very best authority his statement that the porte refuses to comply with the decisions of the Berlin conference.

A dispatch from Cettinje says the Montenegrin envoy has been ordered to leave Constantinople forthwith in consequence of the porte's falsely representing to the powers that the Montenegrins were the aggressors in their recent fight with the Albanians.

A Paris dispatch to the Times says that French officers going to Greece with General Thomassen only number six. Exaggerated importance has been attached to this mission. Turkey, Egypt and other governments have received similar acts of courtesy.

Regarding the German intervention in Turkish affairs, the Berlin correspondent of the Times says: The government lays very great stress on the fact that the whole affair has been arranged quite privately. In this may also be seen the reason why, till now, in the debate as to how many officers shall go to Turkey, the question has not been settled. The government does not seem inclined to take any further steps towards helping the porte in this emergency until the latter has given really sincere and loyal proof of its willingness to accept the resolutions of the conference.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, July 23.—In the house of commons last night the report on compensation for disturbances in Ireland bill as amended was adopted without division. The third reading of the bill is fixed for Monday next.

During the discussions last night of the report on the compensation bill, the amendment of the Right Hon. William E. Forster, secretary for Ireland, limiting the operation of the bill to the holdings of the annual value of thirty pounds was agreed to. Lord Cairns leads the opposition to the compensation bill in the house of lords. Mr. Arthur Toltenham, member for Leitrim, will move a rejection of the bill in the house of commons.

A Standard dispatch from Berlin says the naval demonstration of the powers in the Turkish waters will be placed under a joint French and English command.

The Morning Post says the feeling among the peers against the compensation bill gains force and volume. Lord Beaconsfield comes to town next week to lead the opposition. In addition to the defection of the marquis of Lansdowne, the earl of Listowel and earl of Zetland, the lord in waiting, who resigned last night, it is stated that another peer holding office and owning large estates in Ireland has expressed his intention to resign in order to be free to oppose the bill.

The Times in a leading article, to-day, says it would be a grave error to imagine because the compensation bill has passed so easily through its later stages in the committee that it has in any degree lost its objectionable character or that it is likely to meet a less determined opposition from those who have throughout regarded it as at once unnecessary and perilous.

The St. James Gazette says: We believe that the ministry intend to withdraw gradually from active interference in Egypt provided France will do likewise.

FRANCE.

PARIS, July 23.—The death is announced of M. Allenon, Orleanist, member of the senate for the department of the Cortes du Nord.

A Paris dispatch to the Times says the Jesuit schools here and in the provinces will break up for the holidays at the end of July, and it is understood that when the police present themselves on August 30 they will find no Jesuits to disperse. It by no means follows, however, that the schools are to be abandoned, for new pupils are being entered for the October term, but in the interim they will have nominally changed hands. They will still be the property of the eclesiastics and will be conducted in the same spirit. Some of the teachers will be the same, but the schools will be the property of the secular priests or any one of the recognized orders.

The Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Advices received by the national board of health show that for the week ending July 10, there were eight cases of yellow fever and five deaths, at Nassau, N. P., Bahamas.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

SENATOR THURMAN urges upon every democrat in Ohio the necessity and importance of earnest work. He is very much encouraged at the political prospects of the state.

A VERMONT paper seriously advocates northern secession in the event of Hancock's election.

THE New York World expresses the hope that "it is not true that General Garfield's pen is mightier than his sword."

IN the town of Springfield, Vermont, the democrats cast eighty-one votes in 1878. A Hancock and English club recently formed there has 160 members, all voters.

ON the 4th of March, 1881, the republican party of the United States will begin a fasting experience beside which Dr. Tanner's will seem ridiculous.—New York World.

MR. TILDEN is to take some interest in the management of this campaign, partly for the purpose of showing some people what a paralytic can do when he tries hard.—Boston Post.

MR. CONKLING is reported to have recently inquired of a prominent member of the national committee if the brilliant Hale and chivalric Frye were going to elect Mr. Garfield with the same enthusiasm they determined to nominate Mr. Blaine at Chicago.

THE Indiana democracy feel certain of carrying seven of the thirteen congressional districts, and believe that their chances of carrying three others are as good as those of the republicans.

THE latest "general" to go over to Hancock is General E. W. Barber, of Michigan. General Barber succeeded General W. H. Terrell as third assistant postmaster general under General Grant. He was the staunch friend of Zach Chandler. It was at Chandler's request that he was appointed to the postal department.

COLONEL J. STEWART LOWERY, a brother of an ex-republican state senator and an old republican himself, is the vice-president of the Hancock club in Utica, N. Y., of which General Grindley, who was consul at Kingston, Jamaica, under Grant, and who was a strong Grant man is president.

GOVERNOR MCCLELLAN says that "there is no question about the success of the democratic party in New Jersey next November. It is only question of the majority, which will probably be between 10,000 and 15,000."

THE CHOICE SOCIETY

FOUND IN LONDON AND PARIS

Furnishes Some High-Toned Scandal for the Amusement of the Public—The Marquis of Anglesea Drives an American Woman to Disgrace and Suicide.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A cable special furnishes the following particulars of the death of Mrs. Annie Wetmore in Paris: The suicide of Mrs. Annie Wetmore, which took place at the residence of Lady Albert Clinton, at No. 13 Rue Chateaubrian, at 3 o'clock yesterday, has created a painful sensation among English and American residents here. It is the old story of misplaced affection, abandonment and despair. Some two or three years ago the deceased lady met the marquis of Anglesea, then Lord Henry Paget. She was a handsome, attractive woman, and it is said she abandoned her husband and only child under the impression that if she could get a divorce Lord Henry Paget would marry her. However this may be, it is certain that the relations of the parties were of the most intimate character, and the friends of Mrs. Wetmore were led to believe that a promise of marriage actually existed and that the divorce having been obtained she would soon become Lady Anglesea, Lord Henry Paget having succeeded to the title.

The unfortunate lady's hopes were suddenly blasted, however, by the publication of the marriage of the new marquis to Hon. Mrs. Wodehouse, the widow of Lord Kimberly's second son, and the daughter of Hon. John Preston King, of Georgia. The shock to Mrs. Wetmore was terrible, and her friends thought she would lose her reason. After she became more composed the idea occurred to her of suing the marquis in the English law courts for breach of promise, as she had upwards of two hundred of his letters, which she considered would establish her case. Whether she shrunk from the scandal of such a proceeding, or whether she was deterred from putting it into execution by an insufficiency of means is not known, but she settled down into a state of deep melancholy, from which nothing could arouse her, and finally she procured the fatal drug which put an end to her existence.

The police authorities held an inquiry into the affair to-day, and after inspecting the body, gave M. Weeks, of the chapel in Rue Bahard, permission to make all necessary arrangements for the funeral. The last services will be conducted by Dr. Morgan, at his chapel, on next Saturday morning.

TORONTO, ONT., July 23.—George Bennett alias Dickson, convicted of the murder of Hon. George Brown, was executed at the jail yard in this city at 8 o'clock, this morning. He made a brief speech denying any intention of harming Brown when he visited his office. Bennett's demeanor throughout the trying ordeal was remarkably stolid and he spoke without a tremor. Death appeared to have resulted from strangulation—spasmodic contractions of the body continuing for nearly ten minutes after the drop fell.

GALVESTON, July 23.—The News special from Troupe says that fire has destroyed the whole north side of the town. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $8,000. The fire was of incendiary origin. The post-office and supplies were burned.

DETROIT, July 23.—A terrible accident occurred about 10 o'clock last night on the Detroit river, some nine miles below this city. The excursion steamer Garland with 1,200 persons on board under the auspices of the Detroit moulder's union, while going down the river collided with the steam yacht Mamie coming up, cutting her in too, so that she almost immediately sank. The latter had on board twenty-four persons, consisting mainly of Father Bleyenbergh, pastor of the Trinity Roman Catholic church of this city, and a number of acolytes and boys officiating in various capacities in the service of the church. They had been on their annual excursion to Monroe, and were returning home. The night was bright with moonlight, and there would seem to have been no reason save that of criminal neglect, why the accident should have occurred. Of those on board the Mamie the following were drowned: Mrs. Fred Martin, wife of the engineer; Miss Lizzie Murphy, the house-keeper of Father Bleyenbergh; Miss Mary Hahn, of the domestic parochial school of Trinity church, and nine other boys of the church aged from 11 to 14 years: Thomas Kelly, sexton of the church; Jim Kelly, organ blower, and Andrew Doran, a boy who was invited to accompany the excursion. Thomas McLogan, another boy, is missing and is doubtless lost. Captain Hoffman, Engineer Martin, Father Bleyenberg, Miss Lizzie Dusseau, of Monroe, and four others, were saved and reached this city about two o'clock this morning. None of the bodies of the drowned have yet been recovered.

In an interview to-day Father Blyenbergh states that just prior to the collision most of the boys were in the cabin. He was sitting with older members of the party, and they noticed the steamer coming down the river. The Garland, Fortune and another steamer seemed to him not very far apart and coming very rapidly. "I do not know," he said; "I hardly dare assert it, and yet it seemed to me," and the father made a significant pause, as though he thought they were racing. He went on to say that he did not dream of a collision; in fact, had just said to Miss Desseau, who was sitting beside him, that it was a picturesque and exhilirating sight to see the steamer plow through the water on such a bright moonlight night, when he saw the Garland suddenly loom up larger, and instantly divined with horror that the collision was imminent. The Mamie whistled and soon after the Garland replied, but both bore down on the fragile yacht, crushing it as if it had been an egg shell and fairly cutting it in two amidships. At the moment he saw that the collision was unavoidable, he shouted to his friends and the children to come to the front, and some of them did so. Miss Desseau followed him, and at the same time he felt the boat give way beneath him and caught hold of a rope on the Garland. The young lady did the same. Somebody on board the steamer pulled her aboard, and he climbed the rope he had hold of unaided. Four boys who were saved crawled out of the cabin windows of the yacht and threw themselves into the water. They were picked up by a life-boat of the Garland which was immediately lowered, but some who might have been saved were, he feared, drowned by the swell or run down by the Fortune, which plowed along very soon after. This was not the fault of the Fortune, as they seemed to suppose that the Garland people who hailed them in alarm and anxiety were cheering the The father did not know how the accid could have occured at all, as it was suc bright moonlight night that the smal object could be discovered at a great tance.

Search to-day fails to find the wreck o the sunken yacht. No bodies have ye been recovered. An investigation has been ordered by the local board of steamboat inspectors, which will probably begin to-morrow.

GALVESTON, July 23.—A special dispatch from Jefferson says the greenback convention at Sulphur Springs yesterday nominated H. F. O'Neal, of Cass county, for congress.

Grant at Denver.

DENVER, July 23.—A special to the Tribune from Leadville says General Grant arrived last evening. He was received by a company of mounted police, two companies of cavalry, five companies of infantry, the city fire department and five hundred veterans of the late war. A salute of one hundred guns was fired while the procession marched through the city. The line of march was brilliantly illuminated, and was decorated with evergreens and flags. It is estimated that nearly 30,000 people were on the streets. The city will expend $20,000, mostly raised by private subscription, for entertainments during General Grant's stay.

A SEAT IN CONGRESS.

The Public and Private Claims Made Upon a Representative.

To the Editor of the Boston Herald: The publication, in your issue of last Saturday, of "The Outlook in the Third Congressional District," in which my name was kindly, indeed, almost flatteringly, mentioned, and some loud whispers since heard move me to write a few words of not untimely criticism touching the election of, and subsequent public and private "claims" and calls upon, a member of the federal house of representatives.

Theoretically the unpaid, unbribed and willing constituency selects its member, he representing the concrete political sentiment of the majority, and sends him on his mission to devote such powers as he may have to the public business of the country. He is supposed to be called to his high place, paying at most some small items of necessary incidental expense, and then to devote his full time during the session to the business of legislation, receiving for his time and services a fair compensation from a just public, who do not exact gratuitous service from any of its citizens.

If the theory and practice agreed, the road to the house would be a pleasant one to travel, and service in the house would be useful in the higher sense to the members, the constituency and the country; moreover, there would be an intellectual growth and development in the representative, because there would be a chance for it. A seat in congress would open a career.

But glance at the practice as it has become. Some months before the voting day a candidate is angled for and would-be candidates drop their lines in the stream. This is well enough, because the voters have a right to fully canvass, in long advance, the merits of possible aspirants for their favors, and mock-modesty does not become one who desires a seat. At last the choice is made of a candidate, and the work and his trouble begins. He is made to understand that, though his party is in the majority and the district wants him, there is much to be done before the wish can be recorded. He pays his assessment, usually moderate, but making a grievous hole in his prospective salary, to the district committee, to whom, if he is wise, he will henceforth intrust the actual management of the canvass. Then, if a "talking man," he will proceed to "stump" the district; if not, it must somehow be and always is, done for him. But happy for him if this were all, and after paying the assessment—which ought to meet all ordinary and proper expenses—and presenting his views publicly, he could escape the rest. From the time of the first mention of his name to the polling of the last vote he is beset by individuals and "clubs" without number, all deeply concerned in his political welfare and anxious for his success, but nearly all ominously hinting at what "the other side" are doing or have offered, and all or nearly all professing their willingness to punish such wicked machinations if afforded the means. In this and a thousand other ways he is harrassed; he must either not yield at all or yield fairly. At length, with a memorandum book of political promises to be fulfilled, his business, if he had any, gone to the dogs, early in November our candidate emerges from the conflict a congressman-elect. After a "reception" on election night, costing him at least a tenth of his prospective salary, if a wise man he "takes to the woods" till the meeting of congress. But usually he remains about home in a suicidal mood, receiving congratulations and requests, and paying odd little bills contracted on his behalf by his patriotic and now delighted supporters. Then, with nerves all gone and a trunk full of petitions for place, pensions and pardons, he betakes himself to Washington to fill his place in the councils of the union.

To some the road is smoother. In 1860 one Boston district was debauched and the other demoralized by both parties supporting candidates with long purses. In one of those districts a congressman, now dead, got rest in the several contests and easy victory by drawing checks upon his ample bank account for all that was called for. He was possessed of "wealth beyond the dreams of avarice." He held, as a republican, by means of his persuasive power, the representation of a democratic district some ten or twelve years. To help carry another Boston district in 1872, one lump sum of nearly $2,000 was put into one ward in south Boston. I have faintly mentioned the price of a seat in congress. We are a plutocracy.

At Washington the member is the errand boy of his district—often of people out of it. Unless he finds places for all applicants, pensions for all who served in the war, pardons for all who are in prisons, and discharges for all who inconsiderately enlisted, he is damned. His mail is large enough to require all his time to read and answer, unless he is rich and can do it by paid deputy, in which case his time is taken up by visiting admirers, who feel offended if their congressman doesn't "show them round." So "take one consideration with another, a member's lot is not a happy one."

Very little, it will be seen, is left the "average congressman" for the business of legislation. This is the value of a seat in congress. Under existing conditions, a rich man belonging to the majority party in his district can afford to go to congress, master the rules, and in successive terms work his way up to large usefulness and national influence. No poor man can, unless, indeed, he wishes to make politics a business, and then he becomes a slave. To change the conditions the voters and candidates must change their method of dealing with one another. If we continue in our present course wealth will control all avenues to honest political distinction. Either rich men will ultimately fill all the high places themselves or fill them with poor men who will be their tools. The remedy is in the hands of the poor men themselves. Every dollar they take for "work" or "influence" on votes in a political canvass, helps to enslave themselves and tends to make it more and more difficult and finally impossible for them to be represented by one of their own class. Instead of inveighing against "capital" in the abstract, let them drop "capital" in the concrete when put into their hands as the price of their vote or influence—let them drop it as they would fire or poison.

I plead for purity in elections, and for the enforcement of the laws against bribery and corruption. I plead also for more freedom in our representatives to attend to the legitimate business of legislation.

I feel all the more freedom in making these running comments, as I close by announcing that I am not a candidate, and could not afford to represent my district in congress, even if honored with all the votes in it. P. A. COLLINS.

THE LAST ACT

Of the British Drama in Afghanistan.

CABUL, July 23.—The last act of the Cabul drama was begun to-day by a council attended by most of the Cabulee chiefs and gentlemen, by delegates from Abdurrahman Khan and by many British officers. Abdurrahman Khan was formally recognized as ameer, and to-morrow his name will be recited in prayers in the mosque. Many of the ladies of Yakoob Khan's party have joined him. He has released the merchandise seized in Turkestan. The British army is to withdraw in three weeks. Mr. Lepel H. Griffin, British political officer on behalf of the queen and viceroy of India, acknowledged Abdurrahman Khan as ameer, and announced the early withdrawal of the troops within the frontier fixed by the treaty of Gundamuk. General Stewart besought the sirdars to sink their private quarrels and unite in assisting the ameer to restore peace and order. The sirdars listened in silence.

A Brilliant Entertainment.

LONDON, July 23.—The grandest private entertainment of recent years was given last night at the Kensington house, a mansion built by Albert Grant. Eighty-four gentlemen whose invitations were issued to have the honor of meeting the princess of Wales at the bachelors ball, and about 1,500 guests of the highest distinction in London society were present. The grounds were splendidly illuminated, The fire-works and floral decorations were lavish and tasteful.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

TENNESSEE will elect a governor this year.

GRANT is going to call on Garfield when he gets back from the west, they say.

MAINE expects to lose a member of congress by the next apportionment.

THE Pittsburg Dispatch seems to fear that Cameron's support of Garfield will do more harm than good.

GENERAL HANCOCK has not yet written any letter to explain away anything in his record—but, by the way, perhaps he doesn't need to.

THE newly appointed governor of Idaho was private secretary to Hayes when he was governor of Ohio. Thus it is that virtue is its own reward.

REPRESENTATIVES EWING and Warner, of Ohio, will be assigned to the state of Maine for campaign duty pending the September election in that state.

THE republican congressional committee is getting out a campaign song book, which is expected to take the shine off all other song books ever heard of.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Chicago Tribune says they err who say that Ohio will give much of a majority either way in October. In other words, he discourages republican expectations.

THE only charge against Hancock that the Chicago Times finds will stick is the story that he was wounded at Gettysburg. That seems to be sustained by facts.

THE republicans claim to have made a poll of Indiana, and discovered that they have a margin of 2,300. It begins to strike them now that this is too small to be made available. The democracy have Indiana and propose to keep it.

SOME of the Minnesota republicans fear that their quarrel in Donnell's district will not only give that district to the democracy, but cause them to lose the legislature, which will choose a United States senator.

EX-CONGRESSMAN SPEER, of Pennsylvania, predicts that the republicans will lose every doubtful legislative and congressional district in that state. Hancock is the pride of the people, and the idol of the soldiers, and Mr. Speer does not doubt that the electoral vote of Pennsylvania will be cast for him by a decided majority.

THE SITUATION

AS POLITICALLY CONSIDERED.

Senator Wallace Feels Sure of Pennsylvania's Vote—The Tammany Men Completing Their Surrender—The Western Republicans Preparing for Work.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Senator Wallace, in an interview here to-day, said that "the democrats were very confident of carrying Pennsylvania for Hancock. The democrats were united, and the republicans were discouraged. Cameron and the leaders were disappointed, and their candidate is unpopular in Pennsylvania, and, above all, the memories of Gettysburg are not forgotten. It was Hancock who protected the state from the incursions of a rebel force. It was on Pennsylvania soil and by a son of Pennsylvania that the decisive battle was fought which saved the state from devastation. The debt of gratitude to Hancock will not be forgotten as long as the memories of the war last. As I have shown, the state is debatable ground, and belongs to the party for whom the conditions are more favorable. That party this year is the one led by Hancock."

The headquarters of the democratic national committee were thronged with members and visitors this morning. A large amount of correspondence was received, among which were many applications for clerkships and other offices in the gift of the committee. The room was cleared shortly before noon, when the democratic national executive committee went into session. The committee was in session until about 2 o'clock this afternoon. After its adjournment Senator Barnum, chairman, stated that no business of any public importance had been transacted; that the committee had only informally discussed matters relating to the active carrying on of the campaign, but that no action had been taken.

SARATOGA, July 23.—The state committee of Tammany democrats met here this morning, and was called to order by John H. Colby, chairman. Every member was either present or represented by substitute. Secretary Skeels said he had resignations from all the candidates for electors who were nominated at Shakspeare hall. Mr. Page, of Oswego, moved their acceptance. Mr. Cowen, of Saratoga, thought it better to appoint a committee of five to confer with the other organizations before accepting these resignations. No action was taken on this subject. On motion of John Kelly, the chairman appointed five members to act with the chairman and secretary of the convention to prepare the address. The committee consists of John Kelly, Wm. W. Wright, E. S. Jenny, Alonzo S. Page and T. S. Westbrook. The convention then took recess until four o'clock.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That while our constituents had no part in the nomination of the electoral ticket headed by Hon. Abram S. Hewitt, we recognize that in voting for that ticket they will vote for our national candidates, whose success would be jeopardized by retaining two electoral tickets in the state, and we accept the resignations of the gentlemen nominated as electors by the Shakspeare hall convention, and determine that union and harmony of party will be best served by omitting to fill their vacancies.

The committee adopted an address to the democratic party of the state, in which they say that the nomination of Hancock has lifted the whole party above embarrassing local and state distractions to a broad national ground and has blotted out past alienations by a grand hope. There is now but one party, one cause and one work in which all democrats should heartily unite, and to which they should devote their utmost zeal. Let past alienations be forgotten—buried forever be everything that has tended to divide our councils and embitter those who should co operate. Let us sacrifice personal preferences and ambitions on the altar of the reunited party. Let everything be done that can be done with self-respect and honor to strengthen the democratic party in the state and nation, and secure an unprecedented democratic triumph.

The committee then adopted the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, The wise and patriotic action of the democratic national convention, recently assembled at Cincinnati, in placing before the people of the union, as candidates for president and vice-president of the United States, General Winfield Scott Hancock and Hon. W. H. English, has settled all the differences dividing the democratic party upon the national issues in this state; therefore,

Resolved, That with a view of having the convention in this state wherein all the members of the democracy of the state may be fairly and properly represented a sub-committee of five be appointed by the chair to confer with the democratic state committee of which Hon. Lester B. Franklin is chairman, and that the sub-committee be clothed with full power in the premises.

CHICAGO, July 23.—The members of the western division of the national republican committee met pursuant to adjournment in New York, at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday, Senator Logan presiding. John C. New, of Indiana; Chauncey J. Filley, of Missouri; Elihu Enos, of Wisconsin; William C. Cooper, of Ohio, were present. Mr. Filley was elected vice chairman, as Logan will be absent much of the time this fall on campaign matters in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and in the east. It was voted that the committee select an auxiliary committee from the republicans of Chicago to aid in the coming campaign. It was also decided that an auxiliary committee from each of the states embraced in this jurisdiction be appointed. Much other campaign business was transacted, and after exchanging hopeful views on the situation the committee adjourned.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—The democratic state convention adjourned at 10 o'clock this morning, after being in session all night. The state ticket was completed as follows: Attorney-general, D. H. McIntyre; register of lands, Robert A. McCullough; railroad commissioner, George C. Pratt; presidential electors at large, Colonel J. L. D. Morrison and N. Phillips.

OPELIKA, July 23.—General Weaver, the greenback candidate for president, made a speech here to-day to a large audience. He is a fine orator.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—Ex-Governor B. Gratz Brown has announced himself as a democratic candidate before the next legislature for United States senator.

HANCOCK'S DOG.

The Nominee Tells of a Comical Experience at His Own Expense.

Brooklyn Eagle.

General Hancock told a good story yesterday, as he stood conversing with a group of visitors on the piazza of his residence at Governor's island:

"Since my nomination," said the general, "I have received many letters from people whom I knew many years ago—people whom I thought were dead. Some of the letters are highly amusing. For instance, a man wrote me the other day recalling the fact that we had once been acquainted, with the assertion that his dog had once upon a time bitten my boy in the face. By the way, that reminds me of another dog story. Years ago, when I was stationed in California, I owned a valuable Irish red setter, a splendid dog. One day that dog disappeared. One of the neighbors informed me he had seen a Mexican tie the dog behind his wagon and drive away with him. I searched high and low for my missing canine and was unsuccessful for a long time. Finally, as I was walking through the town one very hot day, I saw a stranger, a Frenchman, passing along the street with my dog. I approached the gentleman and remarked as pleasantly as I could: 'Excuse me, sir, but that is my dog.'

"'Oh, no,' said the Frenchman, 'that is my dog.'

"'That cannot be,' I rejoined, 'for I raised him.'

"'Yes, it can be,' he replied, 'for I raised him.'

"The consequence was we became engaged in an altercation about the dog, and altercations were dangerous out in that country. After we had spent some time discussing the matter in the warm sunshine—it was a terrible hot day—I made a proposition which I expected would settle the controversy. 'I'll tell you, my friend,' said I, 'what I will do. My physician knows this dog. If you will accompany me to his house he will prove it is my dog.'

"The Frenchman manifested some reluctance to going as it was an extremely warm day, but he finally consented, and we walked about half a mile to the doctor's house. When we arrived there the doctor readily identified the animal. 'Certainly, general,' he said, that is your dog.'

"'Now, sir,' said I to the Frenchman, 'are you satisfied?'

"'No,' he replied, 'that is my dog and I do not propose to relinquish possession of him!'

"I called the dog 'Rover' and he wagged his tail. The Frenchman called him by some other name and he wagged his tail again. Seeing no other way out of the difficulty, I suggested to the Frenchman that we go to my house and ask Mrs. Hancock to identify the dog. My friend at first objected to this proceeding. The weather was growing warmer and the visit to my house involved another walk of half a mile. After an argument I persuaded him to go, and together we reached the house. Mrs. Hancock was introduced, and we laid the case before her from our respective standpoints. Imagine my astonishment when, after looking at the canine, she said, "Why, general, that isn't your dog at all, and your dog was certainly not named Rover."

"Then I began to apologize to my French friend, but the more I endeavored to pacify him the more excited and angry he became. It was some time before I could subdue his temper and persuade him to accept my hospitality."

THE STARVING DOCTOR.

He Continues to Improve in Health and Strength.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Dr. Tanner at noon commenced the twenty-sixth day of his fast in improved condition and spirits. He says water distresses his stomach and hereafter he will drink less, although he has taken a pint since midnight. He expresses indignation at the reports of his condition failing, and declares he was never more confident of success than now. A New York manager this morning offered him six hundred dollars per week to complete his fast at his theater.

INVOCATION TO TANNER.

My dear Doctor Tanner:
If you fast in this manner
And live without hash
Our business will smash.
With tears in my eyes,
I see with surprise
That you live upon air—
I ask is it fair?

Suppose every guest
Should just do his best
To accomplish your feat
And ask nothing to eat?
I'm sure they wouldn't pay,
For each one would say,
"My last week is paid
And board bills are played."

But if you'll die in season
They'll come back to reason,
And then they will take
All the hash I can make.
Therefore, my dear friend,
Bring this fast to an end,
And prevent the grief deeper
Of—

A BOARDING-HOUSE KEEPER.

A STRANGE STORY, IF TRUE.

The Secret Process of a Court Annulling a Marriage Between Brother and Sister.

The curious story of a woman seeking the aid of Justice Neilson to dissolve the marriage she had unconsciously entered into with her own brother, has found a sequel in the judicial separation of the couple. The case has been surrounded with much secrecy, as the justice and others concerned have endeavored to keep the facts from publicity for the sake of the unhappy woman.

Justice Neilson was trying a case in the chambers of the Brooklyn city court, about two weeks ago, when a well-dressed woman approached the bench, and, asking the justice's attention, said that she was in great distress, as she had discovered that her husband was her own brother, of whose existence she had no knowledge until she became his wife. The justice asked her if she had lived with her husband since the discovery, and she replied that she had not. The justice advised her to consult a lawyer, who would suggest the proper legal remedy for her case. The woman consulted a lawyer, and the papers were duly prepared, and the case was referred to Mr. F. E. Dana to hear and determine. The law providing for secrecy in divorce cases has been rigidly applied in this instance, but the story is said to be as follows:

Two Sweedish brothers, named Peterson, made the acquaintance many years ago of two Irish girls named Connor, who were sisters, and were domestics. One of them went to live with one of the Petersons, without, however, the ceremony of a marriage in church, while the other, who was Annie E. Connor, was regularly married to the other brother. A few months after this marriage the first sister gave birth to a son, who, when but a day or two old, was treated as her own child by his aunt, and was named Peter Peterson, after his foster father. A girl was born two years later to the boy's mother, and soon after her birth Peterson deserted the mother. The mother had her christened Annie E. Connor, her own name.

The children grew up as cousins, and regarded each other as such. The girl is said to have been attractive though delicate, with blue eyes and an abundance of light hair. His supposed mother, who was really his aunt, educated him in the common schools, and then put him into business. He prospered, and when his supposed mother removed from the city he frequently visited the house of his supposed aunt, who really was his mother, and was thrown into the society of his supposed cousin. The two were fond of each other's society, and were much together, but it was not suspected that the tender affection of lovers existed between them. Last summer, however, the mother visited Europe, and was absent a number of months. In her absence the brother and sister, who did not dream that their consanguinity extended beyond the relationship of cousins, agreed to get married and give the girl's mother a surprise upon her return by receiving her into their own home and by welcoming her as their perpetual guest.

Some weeks ago the mother returned, and when she went to the house of her daughter she found her two children living there as husband and wife. She then told her astonished children the story of their lives, and when they realized what they had done they at once separated, and, it is said, have not seen each other since, and will probably never meet again.

The referee has reported in favor of annulling the marriage on the ground of consanguinity, and Justice Neilson is said to have signed the necessary decree.

The Man in Black.

Wednesday night last, about 9 o'clock, a man, apparently a negro, was seen giving chase to a small white boy on Butler street. A gentleman who happened to be passing at the time took a hand in the matter, thinking that probably the colored warrior intended to do the boy some harm, and knocked the pursuer down. When he gained his feet, the gentlemen discovered that the man who he had knocked down was white, and that for some reason he had disguised his face and hands with burnt cork. As soon as he could get his thoughts collected, and his legs in working order, the disguised citizen left in a big hurry for parts unknown. It has not been ascertained who the man was who envied the color of the genuine African, neither is it known for what reason he used the burnt cork to disguise himself.

Arrest of a Route Agent.

By special dispatch to Captain John Frey, chief post-office inspector of Atlanta division, we learn of the arrest on Thursday, by Inspector Redmond, of Julius Roumillat between Augusta and Charleston, on a charge of rifling two registered packages. Roumillat was arrested at Branchville, taken to Charleston and, waiving examination before United States Commissioner Hagood, was bound over in the sum of $1,500 for the action of the grand jury.

The Ex-Empress.

ST. HELENA, July 23.—Ex-Empress Eugenie landed here on the 12th instant, and inspected the house where Napoleon I. died. She then visited the tomb in which the remains of the emperor were at first deposited, and afterwards embarked for England.

ALL AROUND US.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY AND DO.

A Negro Killed in Montezuma—Judge Henderson in Talbotton—A Forsyth Family Re-Union—A Female Robber Arrested—A Severe Thunderstorm.

CONYERS, July 23.—Miss Lucie P. Harris, of Atlanta, who has been spending some time with relatives and friends in Conyers, returned to her home this evening. Mrs. E. H. Stewart returns with her to spend some time in Atlanta.

WADLEY, July 22.—A heavy storm passed through here yesterday evening. The lightning struck the residence of Judge P. B. Weaver, completely ruining one portion. Two ladies who were in the house were shocked badly. No other damage that can be heard from yet.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

MONTEZUMA, July 23.—The fair is progressing.——Mr. Billy Pearson has just had a difficulty with a negro named Frank Davis. Frank tried to hit him with a brick and he shot at the negro three times, the ball striking him in the vertebral column and entered the cavity of the stomach. The negro will die.

NEWNAN, July 17.—The negro woman who robbed and burned the dwelling house of Mr. J. L. Robertson, at Troup factory some months since, has been captured by our sheriff and is now here in jail awaiting the arrival of the sheriff from Troup. A number of the articles stolen from the house were found in her possession and have been identified.

ACWORTH, July 22.—Croquet and checkers are ahead of everything else. They are practiced all day long, and we think the games will be well learned.——The enumerators have had all of their books sent back for correction, and are busy correcting mistakes.——Farmers are all about done work. Crops look well—all they need is rain.——The calaboose is coming in use again.——Dr. Thomas has broken up his meeting here and gone home.

DUBLIN, July 21.—A serious if not fatal shooting affair occurred on our streets today—Dr. R. H. Hightower and a Mr. Hogan Fountain the parties. Dr. H. received two shots—one in the leg above the knee and one in the shoulder, a glancing shot. His wounds are not serious. Mr. Fountain's wound is about the lower part of the chest, the ball ranging through and being taken out on his back—quite serious if not fatal. Six or eight shots were fired. Dr. H. and the young man's father had a difficulty yesterday, and the affair of to-day grew out of it.

THOMASTON, July 22—Our school opened this week with about one hundred and twenty-five pupils, and with bright prospects for a very large attendance this term. Miss Lucie Rucker, an accomplished and most excellent young lady, has been added to the faculty of teachers. The board of trustees is composed of earnest, public-spirited men who are determined that the Thomaston high school shall be second to no school in the state.——A good shower of rain fell here yesterday evening. In some portions of the county there were heavy rains.

ROME, July 22.—To-day at Forsyth, Ga., Mr. Thomas L. Robinson, a prominent and popular young gentleman of this city, was married to Miss Kate Hillyer, the charming and accomplished daughter of Rev. S. G. Hillyer, of Forsyth. The young couple have hosts of friends in this city, who will join your correspondent in wishing for them the realization of their brightest dreams.——Mr. R. A. Denny a talented young lawyer, is spoken of as a candidate for the legislature. He would make an able and faithful law-maker.——Our military companies are making preparations to attend the grand encampment in your city in October. Being well drilled and handsomely uniformed, they will reflect credit on our southern soldiery.

DALTON, July 23.—A letter to Mr. W. S Murray, from the marshal at Marietta, informs him that Strickling, the negro supposed to have been murdered by Black and Holland, is in that place alive. His statement was that the negroes threatened to kill him if he did not leave town and he did so at once. Excitement has been so high over "our murder" that the average citizen feels disappointed that it ends in such a mild manner, and visions of the execution of a whole gang of cut-throats after the next term of the superior court are dispelled so suddenly that we can hardly realize that after all we are living in a law-abiding community.

FORSYTH, July 23.—There was a reunion of the Holder family, at the old homestead of old Uncle Jimmy Holder, in this county, yesterday. Before and during the war, his family of ten sons, by emigration, became scattered over this and other states, from South Carolina to Texas. They have all come together again to commingle around the fireside of their youth, and to recount their several adventures since their departure from parental care and the home of their nativity. The elder Mr. Holder is nearly ninety years old, and is still hale and hearty, and performs his accustomed daily labor with almost the same activity of forty years ago.——We have several enterprising merchants in Forsyth.——The political cauldron is red-hot and will boil over here to-morrow.

ALBANY, April 22—The late severe thunder storm of the 12th instant, has been followed by another exceedingly dry and hot spell, which is beginning to tell on the cotton, causing the bolls to open prematurely and the young, half-matured bolls to dry up.——We are having just now a considerable amount of sickness, although up to within a few days past this immediate section has enjoyed a remarkable immunity from the usual climatic diseases incident to the season. Only two deaths, however, have occurred within the city, one an infant son of Mr. J. R. Forrester, and the other a child of Mr. T. J. Lake, conductor on the S. F. & G. R. R., the former of whom died several days ago, the latter this morning.——The extreme heat we are having has been very trying to those exposed to it.——The Hon. A. C. Westbrook, we regret to learn, is quite ill at his rooms in town.

MADISON, July 23.—Yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, Judge Alexander M. Speer, of Griffin, judge of the Flint circuit and Mrs. C. B. Sanders, were married by Rev. Mr. Adams. The wedding was something of a surprise. Only a few intimate friends were present. Mrs. Sanders has long filled a leading place in Madison society and universally acknowledged as one of nature's truest and noblest creations. With a loving heart and sympathizing disposition, Mrs. Sanders has ever been to our city a lady universally admired and beloved. Judge Speer stands high in the esteem of the state. The happy congratulations of fervent hearts attend the judge and Mrs. Speer.——William M. Bearden won the medal for the best scholarship during the past term in the Madison male high school. A nice shower fell last night.

GRIFFIN, July 23.—The engine on the up night passenger train broke down last night one mile north of Orchard hill. Conductor Bill McKay, with his usual pluck, sent back to Milam and got one of the freight engines that remain over night there, and brought his train ahead, passing Griffin this morning at 6:34.——The manuscript for Mrs. Nora L. Hussey's new novel, "Herzchen," has been purchased by Mr. J. H. Estill, of the Savannah Morning News, and will shortly appear in the weekly edition of that paper. Mrs. Hussey's well-known talent as a popular writer should cause her friends to welcome this, her latest effort, and certainly one of her best pieces of fiction, too, by rallying to her aid. "Herzchen" fully translated means "Sweetheart," a title that suggests a great deal of interest especially when Mrs. Hussey has wielded the pen that tells of the romance.

TALBOTTON, July 22—This has been a gala day in this live little village. The agricultural club, fair association and railroad had a union picnic and barbecue and about 3,000 people were present. According to appointment, Hon. J. T. Henderson, commissioner of agriculture, made an address, taking for his subject "The Dignity of Labor." For three-quarters of an hour he held the undivided attention of the large crowd and delivered as fine, practical address as we have heard for years. The audience was delighted with it, and great good will result from it. He has popularized his department by making it important and useful to planters. Mr. Pou, the independent candidate for congress, made a speech, and from the tame manner in which he was received, and the loud hurrahing for Persons at the conclusion, I judge he did the latter great good. Talbot is solid for Captain Persons.——Talbotton is one of the most thriving villages in Georgia. Evidences of thrift are to be seen on all sides. Many new dwellings and a large brick hotel are going up, and the results of the paint brush are to be seen on all sides. The railroad to Geneva is rapidly being completed, and will be ready for use the coming season. The people are building it themselves, and it will be of great benefit to them. The county is one of the best in middle Georgia, and the style of agriculture is of a very high order. The plantations and residences are in splendid order and the crops fine. Their agricultural club and fair association has begotten a spirit of enterprise and honorable rivalry that is paying them handsomely. The people are very intelligent and cultured, while their hospitality is unbounded. Judge Henderson was delighted with his visit, and speaks of the people in the most complimentary terms.——Hardeman delegates were chosen in May, but I was told by numbers of persons that the county was largely for Colquitt, and a primary election would demonstrate this.

SO WE LEARN.

—Rev. A. C. Thomas is holding a series of interesting meetings in St. Paul's church. Services begin at 8:15.

—An attempt was made yesterday morning at an early hour to burglarize the residence of Mr. John Maginty, at West End.

—The city court of Atlanta will commence upon the civil docket Monday morning at 9 o'clock to which hour the court has adjourned.

—A new trial has been granted in the case of the State vs. Mrs. Dennis Murphy who a short time since was convicted in the city court of assault and battery.

—Rev. S. G. Hillyer, of Forsyth, will preach in the Baptist church at Decatur to-morrow morning. Quite a number will go from Atlanta to hear him.

—A white man was seen yesterday driving a Sir William goat down the streets, the hair of which was dyed blue, with the exception of that on the tail, which was red. Are they not the national colors?

—We are glad to learn little Maude Goldsmith, daughter of J. W. Goldsmith, who has been so seriously ill the past seven weeks, was much better yesterday and is now expected to live.

—The evening choir of St. Philip's church composed of four male voices, will sing the morning service at that church next Sunday. Some delightful music may be expected.

—In the city court yesterday morning Judge Clark released Jesse Jeninger from jail, who has been incarcerated for some time past upon a charge of larceny. He was a lost negro, the records having been misplaced.

—First Lieutenant George S. Hoyle, First cavalry, has been detailed as professor of military science and tactics at the North Georgia agricultural college, Dahlonega, Georgia, in place of First Lieutenant Joseph Garrard, Fourth artillery, who will join his battery.

—That fine hall over the Orphans' school, corner Forsyth and Walton streets, is being newly painted and elegantly fitted up, to be used as a church by the Universalists, W. C. Bowman, pastor. Mr. M. A. Bell is canvassing the city for money to buy an organ for this church with.

—As an evidence of the large amount of trade from the lower portion of the state to the resorts of north Georgia it is only necessary to state that the passenger train of the Central railroad which reached this city yesterday was loaded with one hundred and twenty-five trunks belonging to passengers on board the train.

—Mr. Alexander V. Floyd, the polite and gentlemanly news agent of the Southern news company, on the Georgia railroad, we regret to learn, is about to return to his Kentucky home on account of ill health. Mr. Floyd has made many friends on this line and elsewhere who will miss him very much. He certainly carries with him our best wishes for his speedy recovery and return in our midst.

A Good Showing.

Captain Whit Anderson says that at present the jail holds but thirty-two prisoners. This is the first time during the past eight years that Captain Anderson has had less than thirty seven prisoners on his roll. The above showing is a good one. We are getting better and better every day.

FASHION NOTES.

NAVY blue suits of flannel are still worn by those who do not care for novelties.

COOL, pretty-looking summer silks are principally in Watteau designs, small checks, polka dots, and the enduring pen stripe.

BARRED English homespun cloths and the coachmen's drab and olive-colored flannels are the most stylish selections for mountain dresses this summer.

GRAY homespun with red or blue bars, and the pattern known as Cheviot designs, are very fashionable, also checks of two shades of yellowish brown very similar to the rough sleazy cloths worn by gentlemen for business suits.

EXQUISITE raw silks are shown with glinting and glittering threads of gold woven through them. Singular to relate, these are often combined with a rough-looking cloth material, reminding one of the old-fashioned goods known as frieze. The combination is effective, as it brings out the color of the silk.

A SHORT dancing toilet for a brunette is a mingling of rouge et noir, having a black satin underskirt trimmed with a narrow plaiting and a polonaise of cardinal colored raw silk decorated with a deep silk fringe. A jaunty velvet cap, tiny in size, is coquetishly placed on one side of the young wearer's head, and, as a natural consequence, the poppy, with black decaying leaves, is the flower worn.

A BELTED basque, with three box pleats in front and back, is the design for the waists of flannel dresses, though occasionally a coat basque is seen, with square pockets, cuffs, and collar of striped flannel, or else covered with many rows of braid. The pleated basque has no ornament but the stitching on the pleats, collar, sleeves, belt, and on the lower edge of the basque.

SILK grenadines, showing satin figures in polka dot, cabbage-roses, buds and blossoms, are effectively arranged over velvet skirts. One for evening wear shows a long, full velvet train and an overdress of silk-and-satin grenadine elaborately trimmed with thread lace in full ruffles. Bunches of lavender convolvult are fastened at the throat and corsage, and a sash of lavender satin ribbon, half a yard wide, is gracefully tied at the side.

NOTWITHSTANDING the manifold beauties of the more elegant goods, the attractions of the season are the wash goods. Everybody wants them, and one half of the feminine world are willing to-day to exclaim loudly against the extortionate charges of the laundress. A woman is never so happy as when she looks well, and sometimes this very consciousness, if not apparent, will give an added confidence that aids in producing a more easy manner and a brighter conversation.

AT their best, summer silks are not very durable, and consequently the most suitable trimming is either a contrasting material, plain silk or ruffles and bands of the same goods. A blue and white check silk is decorated with pipings of bright scarlet, a combination like that used on ginghams. Pearl buttons close the front of the basque, which is opened enough at the neck to show a dainty chemisette of plaited linen, with a standing collar and cuffs to match. A hat of of rough straw, mixed blue and scarlet, trimmed with poppies and bluetts, and an umbrella of blue lined with scarlet, finish a stylish walking suit.

A SCANT round overskirt is still liked, with slight hooped drapery behind, but it is newer to have a full round skirt with the short apron forming the only drapery. This is handsome, made of gray homespun barred with red; the full skirt is then finished with a narrow box-pleating around the foot, and ten or twelve rows of red stitching above. Sometimes white braid is used on the blue flannel dresses, but black Hercules braid is preferred by most ladies. A broad sash of the flannel, beginning on the sides and tied behind, with ends hanging nearly to the floor, is made of the blue flannel bordered with the braid; this relieves the plainness of straight-back breadths when worn by very slim figures.

MOMIE cloths are largely used for traveling and street wear, principally in the numerous cocher tints. In fact, merchants say they cannot get enough of these shades to supply the demand. Suits of this character continue to be simply trimmed, their style consisting in their perfect cut and fit. A suit of light cocher momie cloth is made with fans of silk inserted at intervals around the bottom of the skirt, a long surtout of the same is lined with silk of exactly the same hue, while cords and piquets form the only trimming. A turban made of silk and having a long plume upon it, gloves to match, a jabot of Duchesse lace and a bag of alligator skin, complete a toilet that is perfect, for it has no incongruous colors or attributes mingled with it.

TRAVELING suits are made of the many woolen goods that are classed under the general name of suitings. Lively tints and light grays are preferred, as they do not so quickly show the dust as the darker colors. A traveling habit of gray has a plain, round skirt, an overskirt and basque trimmed with machine-stiching and smoked pearl buttons, and, in addition, an ulster that has an oddly-shaped hood lined with scarlet surah silk. Another of a light livery tint has a short skirt made in deep kilts, and a jaunty double breasted jacket closing with mottled bone buttons. A chip hat of the same tint, lined with peacock blue and having light ostrich tips, an umbrella of peacock blue, a useful side-pocket of snakes' skin and a traveling satchel of the same material, make a suit best described as decidedly elegant.

WHITE flannel suits are made for Newport, and for yachting. Stitching is used to give them a tailor-like finish, and they are worn with sash of cashmere, either red or dark blue, gathered into a large tassel at each end. A square handkerchief of red or blue foulard with white polka dots is worn around the neck. The round hat is of the rough-and-ready straws that are imported from London in dark shades of blue or red. The only trimming is three or four rosette pompons of red or blue raveled silk, and one long plume which curls around the crown. The brim is faced with corded net, and sometimes three or four rows of passementerie cord are passed around the crown, doing away with the plume, which is so apt to lose its beauty when damp. White or black rough straw hats are also used with such dresses. A scarf of white mull and either black or white plumes make up the trimming. A parasol of Turkey red calico or of blue gingham complete this picturesque dress.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 24, 1880.

WHILE the democrats of the north are enthusing and congratulating each other the republicans have gone to work in earnest. The western division of the republican national committee met in Chicago, and prepared to organize auxiliary committees all over the west.

THE democrats of Vermont propose to make a stout campaign. To be sure, there is not much hope of carrying the state, but it is possible to cause the more timid of the republican brethren considerable uneasiness. We can imagine the innocuous Mr. Jewell holding his breath when word comes from the Green mountain state that another installment of campaign funds is necessary.

WE recently printed an account of the marriage of Lady Wodehouse to Lord Henry Paget, and as the lady was a Georgian we were fain to congratulate her. It is to be doubted, however, whether congratulations were in order. If the telegram which we print elsewhere is true, the noble lord is a scamp of most brilliant proportions. His victim, Mrs. Annie Wetmore, committed suicide when she heard of his marriage. To this noble lord she sacrificed both her honor and her life.

THE campaign against Mr. Blount in the sixth district has progressed so quietly that its proportions, as developed in the Milledgeville convention, are somewhat astonishing. Before this reaches our readers the result will doubtless be announced, but we can say now, without disparagement to Colonel Preston, who is a capable man, that the defeat of Mr. Blount will be a calamity to Georgia and to the south. He is neither an orator nor a statesman, but his qualifications for serving the people are altogether exceptional. He is neither a leader nor a politician, but he has succeeded in making himself the most conspicuously successful congressman that has been sent from the south since the war.

IN another column we print a letter written to the Boston Herald by Mr. P. A. Collins. We print it because it is well worth the attention of the people. It fits the atmosphere of Georgia as well as the latitude of Georgia, and its suggestions may be applied to nearly every office of trust and honor. While we have not reached the unhappy condition which Mr. Collins describes, it is easy to perceive that the tendency is in that direction. By a system of economy which we believe to be based on false principles, all the state offices to which any of the citizens of Georgia can be elected are underpaid. The salaries attached to them are inadequate, and it is becoming more and more the custom for the best men to say that they cannot afford to run for office. They cannot afford it for two reasons—first, because the people permit and countenance, if they do not invite a system of electioneering which involves the expenditure of money.

The State Road.

Ten years ago the legislature leased the Western and Atlantic road for the term of twenty years. One half of that time has expired and the state has received $3,000,000 in cash from the lessees. The lease has ten years yet to run, and in that time the state will receive $3,000,000 more in cash. In the term of the lease it will have paid the enormous sum of $6,000,000.

It is an essential part of this lease that the road shall be run with absolute impartiality, and the humblest citizen has the right to test the impartiality of its management in the courts. It is also "writ in the bond" that the road shall be returned at the end of the lien in as good condition as it was when first leased—the state being put under no expense for repairs. It will be seen, therefore, that we have a square income of $300,000 a year, without a dollar of outlay, subject to no contingency and without any depreciation of the property. A safer investment no state ever made—a better investment Georgia cannot make.

Aside from the fact that the state should control in the interest of all sections and all classes, this most important railroad within her borders—the key, as it were, to its entire system of roads—as a purely financial matter, the road should never be sold. It could never bring, at any sale, more than $5,000,000, and most probably not bring over $3,000,000. The chances are that the few men rich enough to make a serious bid for the road would pool their bids, and carry it off for less than $3,000,000. But if it were to bring $5,000,000, we should be throwing up what now pays 6 per cent on that sum. The state is floating 4 per cents now and to change an investment that is paying 6 per cent, and not impairing the property and fully protecting the public rights, would be a criminal blunder. We have no idea that any serious attempt will ever be made to sell this valuable property. If such an attempt is ever made THE CONSTITUTION will oppose such a plan with all its soul and strength, and before every tribunal.

The Romance of a Fast Man.

Our message from Dr. Tanner published yesterday, has in a certain sort of way linked Atlanta on to what may be called the Tanner boom, and more interest is felt in the result of his experiment than before.

That the fasting doctor has already existed beyond the period when abstinence from food has usually produced death, is undeniable. Indeed as far as human theory is concerned he has performed a miracle, in that he has done that which all human testimony has agreed it is impossible to do. It is true that an instance is cited of where a man did without food for 21 days, but he was very ill and his system was quiet, and he had brandy and water. Another case is cited of a lady who existed without food or fluid nourishment for 20 days, but she died. Dr. Tanner's case is the only one on record of a stout, healthy man, who has suddenly stopped eating and lived through a fast of over even 8 days.

It will not do to say that the test under which Dr. Tanner is operating is not fairly conducted. He has been closely watched by at least two physicians and one non-professional ever since he started. The water he drinks has been examined with a microscope, and tested chemically to prove that there is no nourishing matter in it. Every article of clothing that he puts on is examined with the intensest care. No one is allowed to shake hands with him, and even his letters are opened before he receives them and the paper examined. His cot is a simple affair, but it has been ripped open and searched carefully, and the walls and floor all about it tapped and examined to see that there are no trapdoors or secret ways through which food can be conveyed to him. It is impossible that he can be practising a fraud, and the serious earnest attention that is being given to his case, and the columns of discussion over it that fill the leading papers from the first scientific minds in the country, demonstrate that the experiment is jealously guarded against any possible fraud. Altogether, the case is one that is without precedent or parallel, and the English speaking world is watching with interest the course of this contest of the human will against nature and natural laws.

THE autograph-hunter may be depended upon to worry General Hancock down to fighting weight.

THERE is a good deal of talk about Vermont. Why doesn't some reckless democrat get a twenty dollar bill changed and buy up enough votes in that hot-bed of ignorance to give the state to the party of retrenchment and reform?

MR BARNUM—Dear sir: Let's get down to business.

NOTWITHSTANDING insidiously worded reports to the contrary, the Irving Hall and Tammany democrats take time to stop and hug each other every time they meet on the street.

"I'M on the mash," as the banana peeling remarked to the pavement.

THERE seems to be a general desire throughout the country to sit down on Ohio men. It will be useless to boast, however, until after the campaign is over.

THE first duty of Mr. Jewell is to take Mr. Whitelaw Reid around and introduce him to General Arthur.

WHEN Arthur looks forth and beholds long columns devoted to Garfield in the New York Tribune, he wishes he were also guilty.

DALZELL's silence is due to the fact that the editorial waste-basket never speaks. It accomplishes its mission quietly.

REPUBLICAN gents could simplify the campaign by admitting Garfield's guilt and racking right ahead, just as though nothing had happened.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

MADISON, GA., July 21.—We presume you are troubled with a multiplicity of insignificant scribbles, which are too nonsensical to be worthy a reply, but we only ask for one moment of your valuable time. We are subscribers to the dear old CONSTITUTION, and not as a mere compliment do we say that some of our happiest moments are spent while perusing its columns. We wish to ask a few questions, to which we trust you will grant fair and candid answers.

1. We are in a fearful dilemma—we are nonplussed, puzzled, and need advice dreadfully. We are two "maidens fair to see," and are engaged to be married to two young gentlemen, who are not only intimate friends, but partners in business. We four contemplate spending August at some springs, where we can have a nice, quiet time together. Well, our lovers prefer —— Springs, Tenn., while we have set our heart on —— Springs, Ga., now what shall we do? Don't you think they ought to do as we say?

2. A young lady receives marked attention from a young man, who is nice-looking, etc., but he invariably endeavors to handle subjects which he knows nothing about, and there has never yet been a power on earth strong enough to force, beg or persuade him off such subjects. Now, Mr. Editor, what do you advise to cure him of that ridiculous and naughty habit?

3. When a girl is engaged, and her heart is with her absent lover, do you think there is any harm in her flirting with another young man, when she almost knows he really loves her (for he acts it as well as tells it), and is in deep earnest?

4. Can a man love a woman and not be jealous? Answer as soon as possible, and oblige.

"LILLIAN AND VIVIAN."

1 Springs Georgia by all means. You lovers will never regret it if you will take the Air-Line and get a cool shady nook in the mountains of north Georgia. Don't yield this point—future generations will bless you for it because it will keep the money in the state and make times better.

2. Put his feet in cold water and give him a hot whisky punch, and let him read one of M. E. T's. communications to the Augusta Evening News slowly. It will cure him.

3. Not a bit. If she did not respond on such an occasion, she don't love the absent man as she ought to.

4. This depends entirely on the man. Some never can love without being jealous. Some men can't be jealous without loving. When you see both together it is a good sign.

IN GENERAL.

—Lemonade a la Tanner is the latest name for a familiar beverage.

—Many old mill-ponds and a solitary apple tree get advertised for a summer resort.

—The green apple and the watermelon introduce feeling remembrances in many a home.

—That rock and rye was a favorite tipple in the olden days we know from the fact that David put a little rock in his sling.

—The baroness Rothschild paid 20,000 francs to have a cataract taken from her eye. It must have been about the size of Niagara.

—Out in Nebraska, where they have a Sunday-school picnic, the boys go armed. One of them accidentally shot a little girl the other day.

—A Colorado girl lost a leg, and her gallant lover had a pocket-book made of a piece of tanned skin from the amputated part.

—Tanner cocktails are all the rage at Ocean Grove. They are made by adding one ounce of cracked ice to three ounces of filtered rain water.

—There is one advantage in this fast life of Dr. Tanner's; he can snap his fingers at dyspepsia and need not be afraid of dreaming of his grandparents.

—The Buffalo Express says that girls who are compelled to wed first and love afterward always come out right—though, to be sure, they generally love some other man.

—Mrs. Garfield's first name is Rudolphia. Can anybody doubt, with that word in view, the urgent necessity of electing Mr. Garfield?

—"Uncle Esek" in Scribner: There is a great deal of modesty in this world which will gaze at almost anything, provided it can be seen through a crack.

—The Rev. DeWitt Talmage, having seen all the wickedness about New York and Brooklyn, is going to Leadville and around to see if he can find anything new in the naughty line.

—It has been erroneously announced that Mrs. Zelda Seguin was to be married in the fall. The denial of the report appears in a letter from the lady herself, which was lately published.

—The father of Charlie Ross still continues his search. He says that detectives have blundered whenever they have sought to aid him, and but for them he would have had his boy almost as soon as stolen.

—Mary Ellen Russell, claiming to be a resident of Boston, tried to wash her life out on Monday in New York by drowning herself in a wash tub. She was wrung out and will linger a little longer in this world.

—A boy arrested at St. Louis had in his possession a rifle, three or four revolvers, a long knife, six boxes of cartridges and $243. He claimed to hail from Chicago and was going west to exterminate Indians.

—An Enoch Arden, at Mount Vernon, Ohio, is likely to get his wife back, for he returns with a fortune of $30,000, while the Philip Ray is a shiftless fellow, and has led the Annie Lee a miserable life for fourteen years.

—Brooklyn takes a dog census every year. Last year it had 7,615 dogs. This year there are 10,232 canines in the city. A tag of $2 on each dog is imposed. Brooklyn seems to be the "happy land of Canine."

—It is well to have a keg of beer in the house. When four robbers broke into a house in Arkansas, intending to murder the inmates and rifle the place, they found a keg of beer, got drunk, and were all arrested.

—A Paris Bohemian is telling his mode of life to a friend from the provincial districts. "In the morning I awake," says he, "and ring for my valet de chambre." "How! you keep a valet de chambre?" "Well, no, but I keep a bell."

—The late Dr. Bethune asked a morose and miserly man how he was getting along. The man replied, "What business is that of yours?" Said the doctor: "O, sir, I am one of those who take an interest even in the meanest of God's creatures."

—The London Times says that King Humbert is extravagantly fond of regattas, military parades, horse races, and grand theatrical spectacles, and people are beginning to suspect that he is a Chicago board of trade man in disguise.

A Roundelay.

Unknown Poet.

July the Fourth, at Gettysburg, our wounded leader lay:
Another Hancock's name is born upon this glorious day;
There gallant Reynolds risks his life, and for the union died,
And Barksdale fell, a soldier true, upon the other side;
And those who fought, and those who fell, the living and the dead,
On either side, shall honored be, by brave men whom they led.
The southern harp shall speak their fame who bravely fought with Lee,
And northern song shall sing their praise who struck for unity.
But praise the Lord, from lake to gulf, that we have seen the day
When Hancock's name unites the hosts that wore the blue and gray!

A Gratifying Phase of Southern Life.

Washington Post.

Another gratifying phase of southern life is the increased amount of labor performed by the whites. Wherever work is degraded—as it always must be where slavery exists—it will be shunned by the dominant race. Make toil respectable and no race will be afraid of it. A very considerable proportion of the cotton now produced is made by the labor of white men. And this element of southern prosperity and independence will continue to increase until work shall cease to be regarded in any other light than an honor and a blessing. Those who fancied they saw in the abolition of slavery the ruin of the south, those who gloated over the humiliation that was in store for the whites of that section, must be sadly disappointed as they read the agricultural and commercial statistics from year to year to find all their hopes and predictions disappointed and falsified.

A Bad Republican.

New York World.

Zach Chandler's particular friend, Mr. E. W. Barber, third assistant postmaster general under Grant, is the latest prominent republican convert to Hancock democracy. It is now in order for the stalwart papers to show conclusively that General Barber was a copperhead, and that a writ of excommunication from the grand old republican party had been drawn up and signed and would have been served on him next morning at sun-up if he hadn't displayed the wise discretion of the dog that went down stairs when he saw his master put on his boots.

Wants a Change.

Wheeling (W. Va.) Register.

An Ohio man has been occupying, through fraud and force, the executive chair for the last four years. An Ohio man is at the head of the treasury. An Ohio man is at the head of the army. And now another Ohio man is seeking the presidency. It is now about time for Ohio to take a back seat. Either move the capital into Ohio and let them run is exclusively, or recognize the existence of thirty seven other states by a distribution of the offices.

Garfield's Opinion.

New York Hour.

Perhaps, the last person in the world who would be likely to come forward as an eulogist of General Hancock is the republican presidential candidate. Yet in an article in the North American Review for March-April, 1878, General Hancock is spoken of in the highest terms, and reference is made to "his long service on the staff before the war, his honorable and distinguished service as a corps commander during the war." And this article is signed "James A. Garfield."

Our Little Scheme.

Lancaster Examiner, rep.

With the same combination of cowardice and cunning which prevented the democrats from opening their mouths during the last session of congress, they have sought to bury beneath the glittering shoulder straps of a soldier the real issues at stake and sneak into power by hurrahing for the union they tried to destroy. Shall they be allowed to do it? Shall the solid south rule the nation?

Unity and Harmony.

New York Express.

One of the republican papers informs the public that the democratic factions in this city are fighting worse than ever. This will be news to the democrats, who are really more united than they have been for years, and are coming together as fast as could be reasonably expected. It is too bad that a lively democratic quarrel cannot be got up for the benefit of their dispirited opponents.

Happy Wheeler.

Indianapolis Sentinel.

Vice-President Wheeler sighs from his retreat in some mountain trout brook because he will not be permitted to count the electoral vote next year. He hasn't done a thing since he assumed his place, and he hoped he might be able to accomplish it in the count of the vote. He will be just as happy if he keeps on fishing.

Cannot be Proven.

Burlington Hawkeye.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION now charges that General Garfield wrote "Beautiful Snow." This is a very serious charge and if it can be proven—but it cannot, must not, shall not be proven. Let that Atlanta paper be suppressed at once as a dangerous sheet highly inimicable to the public welfare.

A Wooden Nutmeg Campaign.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Both parties have taken their chairmen from Connecticut. It will be a grand spectacle in the heat of the campaign to see Barnum and Jewell throwing wooden nutmegs at each other.

Dead Weights.

New York Express.

Jay Gould thinks "Arthur loads down the republican ticket." Most people think Garfield is much the heavier load of the two. It seems to be generally agreed that both are dead weights.

What Your Uncle Samuel Can Do.

Chicago Times.

Being out of politics, Mr. Tilden can now turn his attention to long-neglected matrimonial projects.

—A Long Branch correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, describing the scene at a juvenile hotel ball, says: "I saw a young lady watching one of the little misses whose plump legs were covered with light blue silk stockings, with elaborate embroidery at the insteps and a delicate vine trailing over the ankles, and there was unmistakable envy in the expression of her face as she said, 'Heigho, I wish I was a little girl again.' The truth was, you see, that she had on as fine stockings as the youngster, but could not show them."

Increase of Kidney Diseases.

Recently published "Vital Statistics" reveal an alarming increase in the dangerous forms of Kidney Disease, caused no doubt by the viciousness of modern living, and the excessive use of beer and other stimulants. All Kidney Disorders are dangerous, from their tendency to run into Bright's Disease. The true cure for all Kidney, Bladder, Liver and Urinary Complaints is HUNT'S REMEDY, the Great Kidney and Liver Medicine. It has cured even Bright's Disease, and all who suffer should give it a trial.

AN ORDINANCE

To Amend the Sanitary Laws of the City of Atlanta.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Mayor and General Council of the city of Atlanta, That upon the passage of this ordinance it shall be the duty of the Committee on Streets to purchase two mules and carts, which carts shall at once be put on duty similar to that in which the night soil carts are now engaged.

Sec. 2. Be it further ordained, That it shall be the duty of all persons having, owning, or controlling privies within the limits for which sanitary carts have been or may be provided and placed on duty, to have and use water-tight receptacles in which to receive all excreta; and it shall be the duty of such persons aforesaid to cause the contents of such receptacles to be deodorized or mixed with dry earth (clay or ashes) daily, and it shall be the duty of the Sanitary Inspectors to cause the contents of such receptacles to be removed at least once a week.

Sec. 3. Be it further ordained, That the limits in which the cart plan or system shall be operated shall rest in the discretion of the Mayor and Board of Health, such action to be subject to review by this body.

Sec. 4. Be it further ordained, That any person or persons who shall violate section 2 of this ordinance shall be punished by fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

Sec. 5. Be it further ordained, That all ordinances or parts thereof in conflict with this ordinance be, and the same are hereby repealed.

Amended July 10, 1880, so as to specifically define the sanitary districts as, viz:

The Mayor and General Council of the city of Atlanta do ordain that the limits to which all that portion of the sanitary ordinances of said city relating to the removal of the contents of privies and other accumulations of filth, and for assessment for paying the expenses thereof, and to the use of water-tight receptacles and deodorizing the contents thereof, passed April 7, 1879 and the 5th day of July, 1880, be, and the same are hereby changed and extended, so as to include the following described territory adopted by the Mayor and Board of Health as provided for in said last named ordinances, to-wit: All that territory within the following boundaries: 1st District—From the Union Passenger Depot along the Central railroad to Fair street, thence along Fair to McDonough streets, thence along McDonough and Butler street to the Georgia railroad, and thence to the starting point. 2d District—From the Union Passenger Depot along the Western and Atlantic railroad to Foundry street, thence along Foundry to Luckie street, thence along Luckie to Cain street, thence along Cain to Collins street, thence along Collins to Gilmer street, thence along Gilmer to Pratt street, thence along Pratt to the Georgia railroad, and thence to the starting point.

Be it further ordained, That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Terms Given on Application.

From 1843 to 1858 we manufactured Gins at Columbus, Ga., under the firm name of E. T. TAYLOR & Co., afterwards CLEMONS, BROWN & Co., and made what was then known as the Taylor Gin. During the year 1858 we removed to this place, where we have been exclusively engaged in manufacturing Gins ever since. With long experience, the best labor-saving machinery and skilled workmen, we possess advantages not enjoyed by any other manufacturer in our line, for producing the BEST work for the LEAST money.

The demand last year was so great that nearly 300 orders remained unfilled, but we have doubled our manufacturing capacity and hope to be able to meet all demands, still it is the wisest plan to get your orders in early. Send for illustrated pamphlet giving new voluntary testimonials from over 500 live, enterprising planters. Presses, Engines and complete outfit furnished when desired. Address

THE GREAT S. S. S.

TRADE S.S.S. MARK

Means Swift's Syphilitic Specific, and is a trade mark registered, and is the property of this company. Purchasers should be careful to get the genuine. Every bottle has the written signatures of C. T. Swift and J. W. Rankin, Secretary, pasted over the cork, and to counterfeit these signatures is felony. For all information address

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,

Key Box 7, Atlanta, Ga.

Swift's S. Specific will permanently cure the horrible disease in all its stages. No other remedy has ever done it.

Swift's S. Specific will remove mercury from the system. No other medicine has ever done it.

Swift's S. Specific will cure Scrofula. No other remedy has ever done it.

Swift's S. Specific is the most perfect Blood Purifier in the world.

It is entirely vegetable and can be taken by the most delicate infant, yet is so powerful that it will eradicate all blood taints, even to the second and third generations.

Swift's S. Specific has cured hundreds of cases after every other treatment had failed.

Swift's S. Specific has saved many a man from suicide.

Swift's S. Specific is a godsend to the suffering. It is their only hope for health and happiness.

Every sufferer should call or send for the evidence. It is too strong to be doubted, and there can be no mistake about it.

EASLEYS, S. C., May 1, 1880.

I have cured many cases with your Swift's S Specific. One who was given up to die is so far recovered that I think one more bottle will make a cure. J. WILLIE QUILLIAN, M. D.

BATON ROUGE, LA., July 8, 1880.

The Swift's S. Specific is having a splendid effect on the party for whom I ordered it, and it is going to cure him. Send me another supply and put a little advertisement in the paper to let people know of its wonderful virtues.
W. T. CLUVORINS.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 9, 1880.

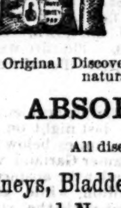

Send me at once six dozen Swifts S Specific. I am having a big trade in it.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

The Original Discovery which CURES by the natural process,

ABSORPTION,

All diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs, and Nervous System,

When Nothing Else Can,

It is worn next to the body, on the small of the back and over the Kidneys. It is comfortable to the patient, certain in its effects, and the only specific for those prevalent affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease.

While its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brick-dust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-colored Urine, Inability to retain or expel the Urine, Nervous Debility and Pain in the Back, seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy for the treatment of Kidney Disease. Its reliable character, desirable qualities, and masterly curative powers, have deeply won upon the confidence of the medical profession. Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well tried and proven inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our PAD brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS

Are sold by all Druggists and medicine dealers generally, or will be sent by mail, free of postage, on receipt of the price.

SHARON, WIS., December 11, 1879.

To Day Kidney Pad Co., Toledo, O.,—Gentlemen: My mother is an old lady, sixty-two years old, and the doctors had given her up with what they called Bright's Disease. We saw your advertisement about two years ago and sent for a Pad, which she has worn ever since. She is gaining strength and improving every day. Enclosed please find two dollars for another of your Pads.
MRS. R. L. SPORE.

A Complete Cure.

BELLAIRE, O.

Gentlemen—The Day Kidney Pad purchased of you gave immediate relief, and ultimately cured me of a kidney affection of long standing. I cheerfully recommend it to those similarly afflicted.
JOHN B. HEIL.

CHENOA, MCLEAN CO., ILL., Jan. 31, 1880.

Day Kidney Pad Co., Toledo, O.,—Sirs: Your Pad is truly wonderful. It has entirely relieved me of great pains against which all other medicines failed. My kidneys and bladder do not trouble me in the least at present. I enclose $2 for a Pad for one of my neighbors, whose complaint is the same as mine was—kidney, bladder and dyspepsia. I am yours truly,

POISONED BY GUANO.

Quitman Reporter.

Mr. John H. Hooper, a farmer living a few miles south from Quitman, had one of his hands so badly poisoned from putting out guano last spring that he will have to have it amputated. He has suffered severely with it, so we learn, and will now have to submit to losing it or die. We have not been advised what brand he used, but understand it was an acid guano.

FINE COTTON.

Dublin Gazette.

On Judge Duncan's farm we saw Thursday morning one stalk of cotton that had on it at the time 255 bolls, squares and blooms. Now, let us make a calculation and see what an acre would make were all the stalks like this. Say one hundred bolls make a pound. Plant the cotton every twelve inches, and there will be 14,700 stalks, and 250 bolls to the stalk. You have, allowing 1,500 pounds of seed cotton to the bale, something over twenty-four and a half bales from one acre, allowing 250 bolls instead of 255 bolls. As in the case referred to, we do this to show how farming pays by figures.

CAUGHT IN A SAW.

Columbus Times.

A colored youth named John Johnson, who lives near Mr. C. W. Hines's saw mill, in Harris county, happened to an accident Wednesday that will probably cost him his life. He is not in the employ of Mr. Hines, but was loafing about the mill. The saw was running but very slowly and was almost stopped. The boy was standing near the saw, and as he had slept but little night before, he was nodding and fell upon the saw. He was hurled several feet and received a frightful cut on the thigh, opening the joint and cutting a furrow down the bone six or eight inches long. The knee joint was also opened and the knee badly mangled.

A HEROIC NEGRO.

Columbus Enquirer.

On Sunday night, about ten miles below the city, several negroes crossed the river in a bateau and attended church at Flournoy's plantation. On their return, by some means, the boat was capsized, and all the occupants swam ashore, with the exception of Rev. Tip Turpin, who endeavored to save his sister. Her struggles were such that he could not swim with her and both sank to rise no more in life. He was a real hero—nobler far than many whose memory has been enbalmed in song and story. It was a devotion that is worthy to be perpetuated, though he was only a negro.

ST. MARY'S BAR.

Savannah News.

A correspondent from St. Mary's writes that the St. Mary's bar has, within the past year, entirely changed its position and a new one opened in a more direct course. It now shows at low water twelve feet full, which, at spring tides, gives eighteen or twenty feet. The bar seems to be gradually increasing in depth. These facts, with the contemplated jetties to be built with money from the appropriation of thirty thousand dollars, will, no doubt, show show sixteen feet at low water, and will give a depth sufficient for any vessel. The water has and is gradually making inroads on Fort Clinch, so much so that the government is about erecting jetties on its water front. To protect it, Messrs. Fox & Burns have contracted to furnish a large number of logs, and are actively pushing their teams to provide the same, which we understand is to be completed by fall.

THE AUGUSTA AND KNOXVILLE RAILROAD.

Augusta Evening News.

The first mortgage bonds of the Augusta and Knoxville railroad were received this morning by Mr. Wm. T. Wheless, the president of the Commercial bank. The issue amounts to $530,000, in denominations of $1,000 and $500 bonds. The bonds, as soon as they receive the signature of President Eugene F. Verdery and Treasurer John W. Clark, of the Augusta and Knoxville road, will be put for sale on the financial market, and will stand as gilt edge and as first-class securities. The placing and sale of these bonds will lubricate the machinery and put the road in running order, fully equipped with iron and splendid rolling stock, and practically set in finished motion one of the grandest projects ever devised and worked to a successful issue for the good of our fair city and the states of Georgia and Carolina.

HARD TO HOLD.

Dearing correspondent McDuffie Journal.

Some time ago Mr. William Printup was appointed special constable to arrest one Frank Widener, and after one of the most desperate struggles since the days of Sampson and the Philistines, succeeded in capturing him. He carried the prisoner to his house, determined to keep him safe, by-gad! or know the reason why. Mr. Printup pinned his hands behind him, tied his legs together, and then tied him to his son Dee. Dee fastened down the windows and placed himself well-armed in the door. After remaining up some two hours, and supposing everything right, Mr. Printup retired to sleep, from which he was aroused next morning by groans and calls. He rushed to the jail only to find Widener gone, Dee bound hand and foot, a note lying on the floor thanking Mr. Printup for his kindness, and conveying a kiss and Widener's undying devotion to Judge Jones. Mr. Printup is disgusted, and deserves the sympathy of a generous public.

A FASTIDIOUS COLORED YOUTH.

Savannah News.

An interesting colored individual, by the name of Henry Williams, who boards with his mother, Martha Williams, at her house on the Waters road, a few miles from the city, was guilty of a most atrocious assault upon his maternal parent yesterday morning about half past six o'clock. It appears that the loving son became ill-tempered because his breakfast was not ready when he wanted it, and proceeded to make himself generally disagreeable, but his mother, being accustomed to such undutiful conduct, paid no attention to his ugly remarks. When at last the meal was prepared Henry took his seat, but in a second flew into a violent rage on discovering that his coffee had not settled and was rather muddy. Jumping up he seized a large knife, and before the old woman could get out of the way the irascible Henry made a savage wipe at her head, succeeding in nearly slicing off a piece of her ear. The blood spurted from the cut, and the valiant youth, becoming frightened, left the place. Martha came into the city and proceeded to the city dispensary, where the injured auricular organ was properly dressed by Dr. Lewis Cass, the efficient keeper, and healing remedies applied. The old woman remarked with much earnestness: "Dat boy'll be de death of me yet;" but she failed to take any action against the fastidious trooper.

MUTINY ON THE CHAIN-GANG.

Columbus Enquirer.

Yesterday morning considerable excitement was created on Crawford street, between Broad and Front streets, by a negro convict refusing to obey orders and defying the guard. Gus Maunds, a negro horse thief, had been abusing a boy on the gang, and treating him so roughly that he complained to Mr. Twilley, the guard. Mr. T. then told Gus he must not bother the boy, but let him do his work. To this the negro replied, "Well, but suppose I won't do it?" Mr. Twilley told him he would make him. The negro then raised his shovel, stepped back a few steps, cursed Mr. Twilley and dared him to come near. Mr. Twilley then sent for an officer. Lieutenant Joines came and endeavored to reason with the negro, but to no purpose, the latter telling him if he came to him he would brain him with the shovel. By this time several officers had arrived, and Mr. Twilley left to see the county commissioners for advice. The negro then said to the others. "Now, come less us go." Lieutenants Joines and Roberts, and Officers Burrus, St. Clair and Lloyd then concluded to knock him down with bricks and capture him without shedding blood. This they were about to carry into effect when some citizens interfered, and after much coaxing the negro agreed to give up his shovel and go to jail.

FATAL SNAKE BITE.

Sandersville Herald.

We have to record the melancholy intelligence of the death of Mr. Marshall Tompkins at the residence of Mr. George Doolittle near Buffalo creek. The peculiar circumstances of his death render it particularly sad and afflicting. On Saturday last late in the afternoon Mr. Tompkins in company with Mr. G. Brown, went to the swamp for the purpose of looking up some hogs, and also of attending to a fish-basket. While walking through the edge of a lagoon, with bare feet, Mr. T. was bitten on the instep by a large water moccasin, the four fangs penetrating a considerable depth, and one of them cutting a vein. His companion at once corded his leg tightly and endeavored to get him home. He carried him some distance on his back, and then finding he was unable to proceed further, he hurried to the house distant about a mile, and got a mule and in the course of an hour after the wound was inflicted got Mr. T. to Mr. Doolittle's. By this time the unfortunate young man was suffering greatly from the virus and swelling had set in. Drs. J. B. Roberts and H. C. Hodges were sent for and reached the patient about 11 o'clock p.m. All that medical skill could suggest or sympathizing friends could do was done, but without avail. The swelling still increased, and dark purple spots appeared first on the affected leg, and then spread over his body. The pain was intense, causing loud moans of distress from the doomed sufferer, and often violent spells of nausea come over him, attended with fainting symptoms and indications of convulsions. Mr. Tompkins retained his mental faculties, notwithstanding his intense agony, up to a half hour or so before his death, and for some hours before he became quiet, and expired with apparent ease and without a struggle.

THE COTTON MARKET.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, Atlanta, July 23, 1880.

New York—The opening of the cotton market this morning revealed a fearful drop off in futures and the course of the market was gradually downward until late in the afternoon. When near the close a moderate reaction braced up the feeling to some extent, and the months closed steady at losses of 8 to 10 points since yesterday's close. Spots are dull at quotations; middlings 11 11-16c. Net receipts for the week ending to-day amount to 12,962 bales, against 10,282 bales last week and against 3,782 bales for the corresponding week last year; exports for the week 21,077 bales; stock 214,275 bales; sales to-day for future delivery 89,000 bales.

Liverpool—Futures closed weak. Spots—Uplands 6 13-16d; Orleans 6 15-16d; sales to-day 8,000 bales, of which 6,950 bales were American; receipts 5,750; all American.

The local cotton market for the past few days has been quite active in the way of future transactions. Spots remain without much change. Receipts for the week ending to-day amount to 56 bales, of which 35 bales were received from wagons. There is little demand for spots at quoted prices; middlings 10¼c; low middlings 10⅝c; good ordinar y9⅝c.

The following is our statement of receipts and shipments for the week ending to-day:

Dry Goods.

ATLANTA, July 23.—The remarkably quiet condition of the market and the dull demand for goods that has prevailed for some time past is having a depressing effect on prices. All leading goods have been marked lower, and the indications are that the bottom has not yet been reached. This shrinkage in values is much greater than the decline in the raw material for the corresponding time, and the chief cause for this is attributed to the excited condition of the market some time ago when goods of every kind were forced up far beyond their real value, and consequently in due course of time must react until a proper basis has been obtained. The following prices are governing the market to-day:

Solid prints	6½
Fancy, new designs	6 @ 7
Fine brown shirting	5⅛@ 9½
¾ brown shirting, standard	5
⅞ " "	6
4-4 " sheeting	7
⅞ " drills	7½
⅞ bleached	5½@ 6¼
⅞ "	7 @ 9
4-4 "	7½@13½
6-oz. white osnaburgs	9
8-oz. "	10½
Southern cotton plaids and stripes	10
Cambrics, sharp	7½@11
Ticks, mattress	13 @20
" Feather	$1.05
Yarns

EXPRESSIONS OF THE PEOPLE.

—Donnie Bain: "I am for 'Old Rock of Ages' for governor."

—Colonel Lowndes Calhoun: "I think that the Whitehall crossing can be bridged very small expense."

—Stockton Terry, of Lynchburg: "I had idea that Atlanta had improved so much the past two years."

—Andrew Stewart: "As chairman of the street committee I have managed to give universal dissatisfaction."

—Willis Reagan: "Put me down for Catoosa this afternoon. My dear boy, there is nothing like it."

—Tom Brock: "My gigantic intellect fails to come to my rescue and explain the situation to my satisfaction. I wish that Ben Hill would make a speech."

—Frank Rice: "If Orme street is opened out I will guarantee that in less than a year fifty houses will be built upon that thoroughfare."

—Dr. Felton: "I am a candidate for congress in the seventh, and intend to make the race no matter who is nominated by the convention to keep me company during the campaign."

SIDEWALK NOTES.

—Pope, the fashionable hatter.

—Seats are in demand every afternoon at the city hall park.

—August 5th, Niagara and return, $15.25.

—Pope is now selling his straw hats at cost.

—The western portion of the city is building up quite rapidly.

—Pope has just received a beautiful lot of Stetson's fine hats.

—August 5th, Norfolk and return, via Kennesaw route, $15.

—The race for mayor is warming up and threatens to boil after awhile.

—Pope is now closing out his boys' and children's straw hats at cost.

—Twenty carloads of lumber reached this city yesterday.

—Pope has the "Hancock" stiff hat for young men—very nobby.

—Miss Vannie Jones, of Hogansville, is visiting Mrs. Herrick at Edgewood.

—The Western and Atlantic railroad case is set down for trial in the superior court Monday morning.

—The Atlanta pomological society holds its regular meeting at 10 o'clock this morning.

—Our readers should write Mr. B. W. Wrenn, general passenger agent Western and Atlantic railroad, for particulars as to Niagara and Norfolk excursions.

—Captain J. F. Burke yesterday received a letter from Hon. Alex. Ramsey, secretary of war at Washington, stating that the tents to be furnished to the Gate City Guard for the reunion next October would be the largest in army use, measuring about fifteen feet square and eleven feet high—capable of accommodating fourteen men each.

—Sapp, Brydie & Co., the celebrated excursion managers, brought to our city today, the 23d, over one thousand passengers, not including the many hundreds who could not get on for the want of cars. They are certainly the boss excursion managers of Georgia. We notice they come up to all advertisements on their bills. Just think of it, over three hundred white passengers of the first families of Georgia on their grand excursion. There are no better colored citizens of Athens than Sapp & Brydie, the tonsorial artists, and they always carry the crowd.

THE A. & W. P.

ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

The City Filled With the Stockholders and Their Families—Hon. John P. King Resigns the Presidency and Mr. W. B. Berry is Elected Thereto.

Yesterday the annual convention of the stockholders of the Atlanta and West Point railroad was held in the superintendent's office in this city. At 10 o'clock ten coaches brought in the stockholders and their families. At 11 o'clock the directors met and transacted no business of importance that was not incorporated in the stockholders' meeting. At noon the stockholders met, the venerable Hon. J. P. King, president, in the chair. All the directors except Mr. Ferdinand Phinizy were present. The following is the superintendent's report in full and will show the careful management the road has had:

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Superintendent's Office, A. & W. P. R R., Atlanta, July, 1880.—Hon. John P. King, President—Sir: The operations of your road for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, show the following general results. The receipts have been:

From passengers	$110,592 39
From freight	220,215 43
From mails	15,586 47
From express	8,047 93
From miscellaneous sources	13,688 35
Total receipts	$368,130 57

The payments for current expenses and betterments have been:

For conducting transport'n	$50,039 90
For motive power	72,117 82
For maintenance of way	55,772 91
For rents of Central and Georgia tracks	6,000 00
For maintenance and rent of cars	25,976 53
For taxes	3,856 00
For legal expenses	1,048 40	$214 811 56
Net over all expense		$153,319 01

If we allow of the foregoing expenses, for proportion of cost of new locomotives, new cars, and steel rails, $12,000 as betterments, the ratio of current expenses to receipts will be the same as the previous year, 54⅝ per cent.

The foregoing comparisons show that the past fiscal year has been exceptionally prosperous. Our business, in common with that of nearly all of the railroads of our country, has been stimulated by the active commercial movements of the past fall and winter months. While these influences were, to a considerable extent, speculative and ephemeral, yet they sprang from a healthy basis; and the return to a normal and legitimate condition of trade and industries, is already nearly accomplished without any serious shock to the material interests of the country. There is evidently a sound basis for increased activity in all branches of industry, and we might reasonably encourage the shareholders of this road to hope for fair returns on their investment in the future as in the past, if they are permitted to manage their property on its merits, having due regard for the rights of the public as patrons. Your property is now virtually in the hands of the state railroad commission. The officers and directors of the company have now no voice in making local rates for passengers and freights—except a small discretion on a few immaterial items. As more than three-fourths of our net revenue is derived from local business, the power of the commission over your property can be readily understood.

We have worked the standard rates, established by the commission, during the past months of May and June, and find the average reduction, from our former local freight rates, to be 31 per cent. If we are held to the same rates during the ensuing fiscal year, our net revenue will be so greatly reduced that we m[illegible] needed improvements, or the shareholders accept small dividends.

The [illegible] cotton, fixed by the commission, as modified, will disturb the heretofore settled trade of our local stations—drawing to Newnan an undue proportion, to the detriment of stations north and south of it.

The change of ownership and management of our connections south and west of Montgomery, has led me to apprehend some diversion of the long travel we have heretofore carried between the Gulf and Atlantic cities. With the superior inducements of solid trains between New Orleans and Louisville, that route will doubtless attract some travel from us. The shorter line will, I think, continue to hold a reasonable share of the business, unless the policy of obstruction should be resorted to by our competitor.

Yielding to the earnest appeals of our connections south and west, and of the public, I consented, with the approval of the board of directors, to put on an additional fast mail and passenger train each way, commencing in the latter part of July last. The additional mail pay and travel have not been sufficient to remunerate the company for the service. The train would have been discontinued, but for the promise of an early opening of the all rail connection with Houston, Texas, through New Orleans. This new line will be opened in August, and will make close connection with our second train going north. This, with additional mail pay, which we are entitled to under the last weighing, will, I trust, justify us in continuing the second train service.

The property of the company has been fairly maintained, if not improved, since the last report.

The substitution of steel rails for defective iron rails, has progressed as fast as required to keep the track in safe condition. We have now twenty-two miles of steel rail track. Some progress has been made in ballasting the track with a good quality of gravel, procured from natural deposits along the line of the Western railroad of Alabama, near Chehaw. This is a much needed improvement, in view of the adoption of a heavier class of locomotives than we have heretofore used, and I recommend its prosecution as rapidly as our outfit for transporting the material will admit.

The roadway department has, as usual, been well managed by our vigilant supervisor.

Two new freight engines, from the Baldwin locomotive works, were added to the motive power in October and November last. Three of the old engines have been cut up, one sold, and one condemned, during the past year, leaving fourteen as the number now available for service. Two of these are of the old light stock, and are fit only for auxiliary switching service. Two additional freight locomotives have been contracted for one to be delivered in November, the other in December next.

The lease of the Georgia railroad repair shop, machinery and tools, has been continued, and the repairs of our engines are being done with our force, under the direction of Mr. Wm. Rushton, as master machinist. The motive power is in fair order.

We have added to the rolling stock one passenger car, one postal car and ten coal cars, and condemned one passenger car and one express car. The list now stands:

Seven passenger cars; 3 baggage and express cars; 1 postal car; 5 cab cars; 113 box cars; 18 stock cars; 26 platform cars and 13 coal cars.

Twenty platform cars are in course of construction by R. D. Cole & Bro., of Newnan, to be completed in time for the cotton season.

The operations of your road for the past year, have been conducted with regularity and promptness, and without an accident worthy of note. The results attest the faithfulness and efficiency with which all under my control have performed their several duties.

I have been ably seconded in the management by A. J. Orme, Esq., general freight and passenger agent. Respectfully submitted.

L. P. Grant, Superintendent.

The superintendent's report was followed by this report from President King.

President King's Report.

Atlanta and West Point Railroad Office, July 22, 1880.—To the stockholders: By the charter and by-laws the directors are required to make annual reports to the stockholders "on the affairs of the company." Under our organization the business interests and practical operations of the company are so entirely entrusted to the management of the superintendent that the duties of the board are substantially performed by referring to the report of that officer and the documents attached to it.

The superintendent is an able and reliable officer in the line of his profession, and in his position as an officer of our road has the advantage of having been closely connected with it from the beginning, either as engineer or superintendent, or both.

The directors and stockholders have, therefore, generally found it safe in the line of his duties, to defer to his opinions and recommendations instead of urging their own. The bearings of traffic and travel, and the manner and extent to which they are influenced by the location of our road, are perfectly familiar to him. Agreeing, therefore, in the main with the superintendent, to dwell in detail upon the matters embraced in his report would be a simple repetition.

The superintendent in his detailed statement of income exhibits receipts mainly from road operations to the amount of	$368,130 57
And payment for current expenses and betterments to the amount of	214,801 56
Net over all payments and expenditures	$153,329 01

By reference to the comparative statement it will be seen that a very handsome increase of the receipts of the last year is shown. But the superintendent very properly reminds us that this result is exceptional, and very common with other roads.

The superintendent and others at one time felt strong apprehensions of the disastrous effects of the railroad commission law if it should be rigidly enforced upon the railroad interest subject to its operations. It is believed, however, that a better understanding of the purposes and intentions of the commission has greatly relieved the apprehensions upon the subject. It is believed that the law was intended to be conservative and not destructive in its application. It was calculated, and it is hoped intended, to relieve this large and important item in the productive wealth of the nation from a constant menace of destruction by a wastful or malicious rivalry, rather than to guard against extortion, of which there is no danger under a free and wholesome competition. The railroad interest is a very large interest, and constitutes an important share of the productive national wealth and to destroy or materially cripple it would be felt as a calamity in every section and by every business interest in the country.

No one doubts the intelligence or the pure and honest intentions of the worthy commissioners, but how equal justice can be administered among corporations so differently situated with resources so unequal by any law of common application is not easily perceived. Perseverance and honest purposes, however, may do something to modify and mitigate an acknowledged evil which, perhaps, can't be cured.

The regularity with which the service has been performed during the past year, and the entire freedom from accident with which the service has been performed is the best guarantee of the fidelity and close attention with which the officers and operatives have performed the duties of their several stations during the past year.

All of which is submitted in behalf of the directors. J. P. King, President.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Hon. John P. King after thirty years' service, during which the road has enjoyed unexampled prosperity, declined a re election. On motion of Hon. B. C. Yancey, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the board of directors be tendered to the Hon. John P. King, our ast president, for his long and able service, and hat the board extends their earnest wish for a continuance of health and long life for him in his voluntary retirement.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
President—W. B. Berry.
General Manager—L. P. Grant.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. P. Orme.
Directors—John P. King, Ferdinand Phinizy, W. B. Berry, B. C. Yancey, J. S. Bigby, D. N. Speer and L. M. Hill. The old board was re elected. The convention then adjourned.

THE EXCURSION.

Our visitors enjoyed the day very much apparently, and made Atlanta lively. They kept up the retail trade to a fine stand all day and returned home happy at 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Cheap Coal.

The great reduction in freights upon coal to be used for steam purposes produced by the railroad war of last winter, amounting to about 33 per cent, has precisely the effect The Constitution predicted, in stimulating and greatly increasing our manufacturing industries.

A very good steam coal is now being delivered here for a little over $3.00 per ton; unfortunately these steam coals are unfit for domestic uses, and the supply for these purposes must still come from the old sources.

In an interview with Mr. J. C. Kimball, one of our leading dealers, on yesterday, he stated that there had actually been no reduction in freight upon domestic coal from Alabama, and upon Coal Creek—the chief sources of supply—the reduction was only 5 per cent. In answer to our question as to prices of domestic coal for this season, Mr. Kimball said that he had used every possible effort to obtain low prices, and that the mines had agreed upon any reasonable rates for August and September, but would give no quotations beyond October 1st.

"Coal will be sold here," said Mr. K., "for the next two months, at prices lower than I have ever known before, but it will certainly be considerably higher after October 1st."

The above statements may be relied upon as correct and are given for the benefit of our readers.

Spiritual Songs for the Sunday-School.

Rev. Charles S. Robinson, D. D., whose wide experience, cultivated taste and admitted ability as a successful compiler of hymn and tune books, has just completed an excellent little book "Spiritual Songs for the Sunday-School." In an examination of it we find it an excellent manual of songs for the Sunday-school, not too severely classical for general use, nor does it cater to a puerile taste.

It is a book of 192 pages, 273 hymns and 221 tunes and charts. Everything in it is good of its kind. The table of contents is comprehensive, and the index clear and distinct. It is a beautiful volume in appearance and reflects much credit upon Messrs. Scribner & Co., 743 and 745 Broadway, New York.

Fast Mail.

Yesterday Hon. W. B. Thompson, general superintendent of the railway mail service, was in Atlanta, accompanied by Mr. C. J. French, superintendent of the fifth division of the same service. These gentlemen are on a tour of the south in the interest of increased mail facilities. Mr. Thompson thinks it is probable that Atlanta will get much faster mail than it has ever had. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Thompson, French and Terrell, superintendent of this division of the railway mail service, left for Chattanooga. They will look thoroughly into the facilities for a fast mail offered in the south and will do the best they can to secure a quicker service.

WATERING PLACE NOTES.

—Frank Rice is leading the German at Catoosa.

—Jim Robinson has engaged rooms at Johnson springs.

—F. M. Coker and daughter, Miss India Coker, have gone to Tallulah falls.

—T. E. Oates and lady, and Miss Pegram Oates, of Charlotte, are at New Holland.

—The hotels and boarding houses of Gainesville are filled with guests.

—W. T. Cole, of Griffin, passed through Atlanta yesterday on his way to Baltimore.

—Mrs. T. C. Arnold, of Savannah, passed through Atlanta yesterday on her way to Mt. Airy.

—Cliff Jones, Henry Collier, Jim Akers and Will Nutting leave to-day for Porter springs.

—John Schroder and family, of Savannah, passed through Atlanta yesterday en route to Gainesville.

—Miss Maggie Carlton, of LaGrange, who has been in Atlanta for some days past, returned home yesterday.

—Clarence Angier has returned to the city after spending a few weeks at the north.

—W. A. Pratt, of the Chatham artillery of Savannah, who participated in the encampment at Rome, passed through Atlanta yesterday on his way home.

—The day train of yesterday morning which left Atlanta by the Western and Atlantic railroad carried a party of guests to Catoosa.

—Mrs. George Winship, Miss Ida Winship, Miss Julia Culpepper and Miss Jesse Culpepper left yesterday on a visit to Tallulah falls.

YESTERDAY JUSTICE TANNER

—Sent William Bird and George Thomas, two small negro boys, to jail, for stealing rags from the store of Mountcastle & Co.

—Bound over Henry Stephens, a colored youth, for assault and battery. It seems that Henry pecked a friend in the head with a stone.

—Compelled Clinton Wilder, p. o. c., to give bond to keep the peace. Clint had threatened to beat his better half because a male Caucasian had tapped at his window. Jealousy is a troublesome passion.

—Committed a Clayton county darkey for carrying concealed weapons. His name is Ben Henson. He got superlatively drunk and casually remarked that it was his intention "to clean up the whole police force and shoot his way through."

Too Drunk to Tell His Name.

Last night between eight and nine o'clock an unknown colored brother, supremely drunk, while trying to balance himself on both feet on the floor in Chaffin's saloon, corner Decatur and Loyd, suddenly fell forward with great force, striking the back of his head against a whisky barrel and cutting an ugly gash, from which the claret flowed copiously. In his helpless condition the police kindly conveyed him to the station-house and laid him down in the hall way fronting the cells. When the reporter saw him he was so profoundly drunk that he could not tell his name.

An Immense Excursion.

Yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock an immense excursion, under the management of Sapp & Bridge, reached this city from Athens. The excursion was mixed, the representatives of both races numbering 1,005. The excursion came to Atlanta in a special train, which will return to Athens Monday morning next. Upon an open car the machine of Relief fire company No. 2 was seen, and in the coach adjoining rode forty of the members of the company under the command of Ed. Johnson. The Athens cornet band, led by Professor George H. Davis, was also in the party, and during the trip discoursed several popular pieces of music.

At all of the armories of the colored military companies of this city receptions were held last night, and the Athens visitors were entertained in a most hospitable manner. Banquets were given at some of the halls under their control, and during the evening dancing was indulged in.

Meeting an excursionist on the streets, the reporter asked him how he was "enjoying himself, and was informed by him that he and his friends were having a most delightful time, and that their Atlanta friends were doing all that was in their power to make their guests enjoy themselves while in the city. To-day Relief No. 2 will give an exhibition of throwing water. There will also be a parade, in which the Athens fire company and the colored military of Atlanta will take part. The procession will probably come off during the morning and will be headed by the Athens cornet band. We could not learn of any programme that had been arranged.

Old Limerick.

Yesterday morning William Powers, better known as "Old Limerick," was arrested by the police on a charge of drunkenness. He could not have been more completely intoxicated had he taken a bath in a cask of rum and drank a barrel of the fluid.

Being perfectly unmanageable, he was raised from the ground by Officers Clark and Menkin and placed upon a dray for transportation to the station-house. When the dray, followed by an army of negro boys, had reached the corner of Broad and Hunter streets, "Old Limerick" mustered his courage and strength and attempted to get away from the officers. Reinforcements were called up and "Old Limerick" was laid at full length upon his back upon the dray and sat down upon by four or five men who kept him in position until the station-house was reached. "Old Limerick" is probably the best patron that the police headquarters has ever had since its location on Pryor street, and whenever he is not safely in his cell at the station-house his presence is missed by all who have any connection with the business of the police department.

The Election To-day.

The delegates from Fulton county to the gubernatorial convention will be elected today. The polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 6 o'clock. There is but one ticket in the field, and while the excitement born of opposing faction will be wanting, it is expected that a large vote will be polled. The ticket is a good one. Go up and vote it.

The Obelisk.

New York Times.

The obelisk has arrived, and the park commissioners are in a state of mind as to its final disposition. Nothing more violent than the transition of this monument from Egypt to the United States has ever occurred in modern times. The obelisk of Luxor, removed to a country which was dimly known to the ancient Egyptians, is not a radical anachronism in Paris; and the fellow of our obelisk, after many strange vicissitudes, set up as a gazing stock for English cockneys, is at least in the midst of a civilization which has yet about it a mediæval flavor. To be sure, the antiquity of England is very new, and the very near progenitors of the "purest and best" of Great Britain were unbreeched savages when the obelisk builders had been dead many centuries. But France and England are old, when compared with the wonderful country which has sprung from the wilderness, with its cities and great public works, like an exhalation which rises in an hour. From ancient Egypt, dead and dusty Egypt, to the raw, lusty, noisy land which we call the United States of America, how vast is the stride! There is almost nothing tangible that is older than the obelisk. There is nothing much younger than New York. The extremes have met. The dust of a New England shoddy manufacturer, entombed in an Assyrian sarcophagus is not more absurd than the Egyptian obelisk in the metropolis of the new world.

Lecture on Advanced Methods of Education.

G. T. Howard, Esq., recently delivered a lecture on this subject, in Concordia hall. He has been requested by many parties interested, to repeat the lecture, and the lecture room of the First Methodist church has been tendered him for this purpose. Those who heard his first lecture need not be deterred for fear of repetition, for the lecturer is so full of his subject, and there so many phases of its illustration, that one lecture would be only calculated to whet our appetite for more. We trust that all who are interested in the perfect education of children will attend. We can assure them a most interesting and profitable evening.

Closing Quotation of Stocks and Bonds.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The stock market opened strong and the prices advanced ¼ to 1¼ per cent., but subsequently reacted ⅛ to ⅝ per cent. During the afternoon speculation again took an upward turn and continued strong to the close, when an advance from the lowest point ranged from 1 to 3⅝ per cent, Central Pacific Denver and Rio Grande, Delaware, Lackawana and Western, New Jersey Central, St. Paul and Pacific, Lake Erie and Western, Ohio and Mississippi leading in the advance. The improvement in Denver and Rio Grande was due to the official report of the earnings for the third week in July which were 88,800 against 17,800 for the same period in 1879, being five time greater than last year. The transactions aggregate 282,000 shares.

London, July 23.—In Mincing Lane during the past week markets have been inanimate. Further arrivals of the new season's tea have increased the already full supply and the market was dull and prices rather easier. In the sugar market the feature of the week has been an advance upon refined of 6d to 1s per hundredweight, but raw has not followed the improvement; West India continued firm, especially crystalized. Low crown qualities have not been in much inquiry, and numerous parcels offered at public sale had to be withdrawn. The stock in the United Kingdom has further decreased, showing 18,000 tons deficiency on the previous season. Prices are now, with few exceptions, 1s to 2s per hundred weight dearer than at the same date in 1879.

Some nice cargoes sold at last week's quotations. Coffee is without change; supplies are large; plantation Ceylon was in steady demand and prices were supported; colony kinds rather higher; fine descriptions of foreign brought extreme rates including Costa Rica up to 102 shillings 6d. per cwt. East India chiefly sold at its full valuation for good, but prices easier for pale and common.

Rio Janeiro, July 21.—Exchange on London 23⅜d. Coffee animated and prices very firm; good firsts 55.00@56.50 reis per ten kilos. The average daily receipts for the week 7,200 bags; week's shipments to the channel and north Europe, 12,000; United States 14,000; Mediterranean ports, 6,000; week's sales channel and north Europe, 3,800; United States 8,000 and Mediterranean, 5,000; stock, 105,000.

Santos, July 23.—Coffee very quiet; prices nominal; superior Santos, 51.00@53.00 reis per 10 kilos; average daily receipts of the week, 1,200 bags; stock, 92,000 bags.

This week's circular of the Liverpool cotton brokers' association says: Cotton was in fair demand with a firm market in the early part of the week. On Wednesday and Thursday there was more desire to sell. American was in fair demand, but with the free supply quotations were reduced 1-16d. Sea island was in moderate request and steady. Futures opened firm and improved slightly during the first half of the week, but since Tuesday the market has been dull, and prices have declined 1-16@3-32.
